HOLLEMAN SAYS HE IS NOT DEAD AND PROVES IT

Augusta Man Tells How It Feels to Read Your Own Funeral Notice.

HE LOOKS UP HIS FRIENDS TO FIND OUT IF HE'S ALIVE

Puzzled by Mysterious Henderson, Who Sent the Telegram Which Prematurely Killed Real Estate Man—Notoriety Has Interfered With His Matrimonial Plans, He States.

A slender young man of medium height, wearing a straw hat and dressed in a dapper suit of blue, walked into The Constitution office last night with a broad grin on his face.

"Is this the night city editor?" he asked as he stepped up to the desk. He was informed that he was face to face with none other.

"Well," he said, "I'm not dead."

"Well, I see you are not dead," acquiesced the man behind the rail.

"Furthermore," continued the live one, "I have no idea of passing away in the near future."

"Long life, health and prosperity to you," wished the benevolent, but bewildered night editor.

Was Advertised as Dead.

"It's this way, you see," explained the stranger with a sly twinkle in his eye. "I was walking down Peachtree street this afternoon when a newsboy pushed an 'extra' under my nose, yelling that a 'man from Augusta' had been killed in Atlanta. Being from Augusta myself, I bought a paper, and began perusing it to find out the source of the excitement.

"The paper, much to my surprise, went at great length to tell of the death of one C. G. Holleman, of the realty firm of Holleman & Bruce, of Augusta.

"'Why, this is getting serious,' I said to myself, as I read on. There must be some mistake about this somewhere. I reached in my pocket to make sure. No; everything seemed to be all right. There were my cards with 'C. G. Holleman, real estate,' printed on them as plain as your nose on your face, and half a dozen letters addressed to me, besides.

"'Maybe you are dead and don't know it,' I suggested to myself.

"So I read on with avidity to learn the mysterious manner of my taking off. I tell you, it is no pleasant sensation to read of yourself cold in death in a great city, unknown, unlocated and not a friend in the world who is able to find your remains to give them a decent burial!

Felt Sorry for Himself.

"Well, I felt pretty badly cut up about my sad plight, when I read all that, and started out to find some friends. As I strolled along in my loneliness I saw an old acquaintance across the street and hailed him. He looked at me coldly and passed on without recognizing me! When that thing happened I got a shock I'll never forget!

"I felt sick and faint, so I dropped in at a soda stand for something refreshing. In the mirror behind the fountain I saw myself and wondered whether I were looking at my own corpse.

"Up the street a little further I passed another friend. I did not speak this time. Neither did he, but his sleeve brushed mine.

"Presently someone from behind hailed me by an old nick-name of the boyhood days.

"'Thank God!' I said as I grasped his hand, and I could have fallen about his neck!

Henderson—Who Is He?

"When I told you that I am still alive, though, I told you about all I know about the circumstances surrounding my alleged death. As for the telegram signed 'Henderson'—try as hard as I may, I cannot recall even a casual acquaintance by that name."

Holleman says the story was a frame-up.

Holleman said that he has been in Atlanta and Rome and nearby towns ever since he left Augusta and has constantly kept in touch with Bruce, both writing letters to him and receiving letters from him. He states that his last letter to Bruce was written from the Piedmont hotel last Saturday night and should have reached him by the time he received the alleged telegram.

"The whole affair seems ridiculous to me," said Holleman, "and I am only sorry for one thing. The unpleasant publicity which the incident has lent me will interfere temporarily, at least, with certain matrimonial plans I had in view. She will wait, though, I know. I won't tell you who she is, but she is a member of one of the most prominent families in Atlanta."

Holleman says that he stopped at the Brittain hotel, 45 West Mitchell street, during part of his stay in Atlanta, but is at present stopping at a private home in West End.

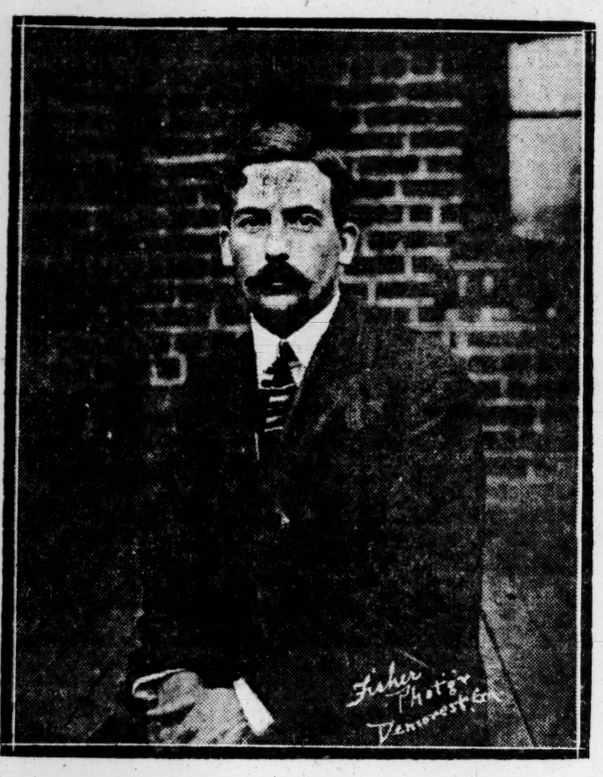
Here Is Mysterious Teelgram

The story to which Mr. Holleman had reference appeared in Atlanta daily papers yesterday, and was to the effect that the following night lettergram had been received by J. L. Davis, of the Fox River Butter company, of Augusta:

"Atlanta, Ga., September 1.—J. L. Davis, Augusta, Ga.: Holleman died this morning of blood poison. Notify Bruce and friends. Funeral Monday evening at Raymer, Wilkinson county. (Signed) "HENDERSON."

The dispatch from Augusta also stated that it was feared in Augusta that Holleman had either died from blood poison resultant from an ingrowing toe nail or had met with foul play in Atlanta.

JOHN HEGWOOD HANGED AFTER SINGING SONG AND DECLARING ANOTHER KILLED WHITTEMORE



JOHN HEGWOOD,
Who was hanged at Clarkesville yesterday for the murder of John Whittemore, which occurred January 14.

Clarkesville, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—John Hegwood was hanged here at 11 o'clock this morning for the murder of John Whittemore, which occurred at Baldwin, Ga., on the night of January 14. He ascended the scaffold shortly after 10 o'clock, made a talk of about thirty minutes to the crowd, and the trap was sprung about 11 o'clock. He was pronounced dead in fifteen minutes.

The condemned man showed remarkable nerve during the entire proceedings. In fact, his nerve has been wonderful ever since the deed for which he gave his life was committed.

Besides his warning to the crowd to leave whisky, cards and dancing alone, he sprung a sensation when he declared almost in his last moments on earth that he did not fire the fatal shot that killed John Whittemore, but that Will Brooks, white, living near the scene of the crime, and who was present at the house the night the killing occurred, cut the shells with which the killing was done and fired the first shot. He stated that he (Hegwood) fired the second shot, which did not even strike Whittemore.

Opinion is considerably divided as to the truthfulness of the man's statement in view of some slightly contradictory statements previously made, while there are others who hold that the man would hardly launch out into eternity with a lie on his lips, and believe that Hegwood's condition of mind made him an easy tool in the hands of others.

The scene was a touching one. Sheriff Paul F. Grant offered up a prayer before pulling the trigger. Prayers were also made by Rev. Mr. Jordan, Methodist, and Rev. Mr. English, Baptist. Hegwood sang a song on the scaffold. His composure in the face of impending death was impressive, and he went to his doom protesting his innocence to the very last.

About 500 people witnessed the hanging, which though intended to be private, was easily made public by the location of the place on which the scaffold was located. The crowd was composed of men, women and children, with here and there a baby in its mother's arms.

MUSIC AND DANCE WILL BE BARRED

Vice Commission Completes Work at Secret Meeting.

Segregation Will Be Recommended When the Report Is Given Out in October--Broad Discretionary Powers for Police Will Be Urged.

The commission appointed by Mayor Courtland S. Winn to make an investigation and report on the sexual vice in Atlanta, has held its final meeting, has completed its report, and will make it public in October. The report, it is understood, will recommend giving the police broad discretionary powers, and will urge regulations to drive clandestine vice from the city into the segregated area.

The police have already heeded one of the recommendations of the commission to eliminate the sale or dispensation of beer in resorts, and will shortly serve notice on the proprietors of resorts that music, song and dance will have the ban put on it.

The members of the commission refuse to discuss the report.

All Pledged to Secrecy.

"We are pledged to secrecy," said one member. "While it is true that the commission has practically completed its report, still it is possible that some changes will be made concerning the recommendations. Some of the members are away from the city. They are investigating conditions in other cities, and their findings may be of value to the commission.

Chairman Joseph A. McCord stated Friday that the report would not be made until October. He also said that the members of the commission were sworn to secrecy until the report is ready to be placed in the hands of Mayor Winn and the general council.

It has been learned, however, that several members of the committee favor abolishing the restricted district on the ground that to allow it is to legalize vice. Other members favor removal of the district to an isolated section of the city, and give the police broader powers.

The commission will urge adoption of regulations to suppress clandestine vice from the streets, rooming houses, so-called hotels, private houses, cheap picture playhouses and other places. The resorts on Decatur street, the knotty problems with which the committee has been forced to wrestle, will probably remain as they are, but under surveillance of the police, and strict medical regulations.

Will Not Move at Present.

It has been rumored that the Decatur street resorts, now being oper-

HEADS NEW YORK PROGRESSIVES

OSCAR S. STRAUS,
Nominated for governor of New York by acclamation at the progressive state convention at Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday.

STRAUS NAMED FOR GOVERNOR BY N. Y. MOOSE

Unanimously Acclaimed Nominee By Progressive Party in Stampeded Convention.

DRAMATIC EVENT TURNS HALL INTO PANDEMONIUM

Former Cabinet Member, While Acting as Chairman, Is Placed in Nomination by "Suspender Jack" McGee—Straus Mobbed by Delegates Until He Accepts.

Syracuse, N. Y., September 6.—Oscar S. Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, was unanimously acclaimed the nominee for governor by the progressive party in a stampeded convention this afternoon under circumstances not only unexpected, but dramatic.

The former cabinet member, acting as the convention's permanent chairman, was about to entertain a motion from former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff to expedite the roll call on the names of State Chairman William H. Hotchkiss and Comptroller William A. Prendergast, of New York, when a delegate from New York county leaped to his chair and demanded to be heard.

"It's Suspender Jack."

"It's 'Suspender Jack' McGee," cried a voice from the gallery. Chairman Straus looked puzzled. McGee, who got his name in the Indian country by riding a broncho into camp with suspenders used as reins, moved resolutely toward the platform.

"They say I'm crazy, but I know what I am doing," he cried, as he swung up the platform steps.

McGee, a flaming bandanna around his neck and his coat blazing with badges, tossed his rough rider hat on the floor and demanded the right to make a nomination.

"Whom do you wish to nominate?" asked Chairman Straus, but McGee gave only a meaningless shake of his head. Delegates cried, "Put him out." But McGee stuck to his purpose.

Delegates and spectators booed and jeered as he began to speak. There was a general laugh when he cried:

"I'll name a man, the mention of whose name will bring tears of sympathy to the eyes of almost every man and woman in the civilized land." "Suspender Jack" only waved his arm in defiance of the jeers. He paused a moment, and then cried: "I nominate the illustrious and honorable Oscar S. Straus."

Bedlam Turned Loose.

The delegates seemed stunned. Then a few of them cheered. McGee kept on with his speech and the first few cheers, at first from a half dozen delegates, gradually grew into a pandemonium that swept the convention hall. Standards were wrenched from their supports and delegates, yelling and cheering for Chairman Straus, paraded the aisles, turning the convention into a bedlam.

Chairman Straus at first shook his head deprecatingly. He turned to friends and remarked: "This must not be. I cannot accept." Chairman Hotchkiss rushed to the platform. Placing his hands on Mr. Straus' shoulders he said: "You must accept; you must accept; all the delegates are for you."

Scores of delegates pressed forward to urge Mr. Straus to make the decision. Then Mr. Hotchkiss burst from the group that surrounded Mr. Straus

DEMOCRATS GIVE TO WILSON FUND

$2,526 Subscribed at Dinner Held Last Night.

The first active step toward conducting a campaign for contributions to aid the democratic party in the presidential campaign was taken last night when a committee was appointed to solicit contributions from the citizens of Fulton county, and an opening contribution of $2,526 made by the citizens attending the dinner at which the plans were made.

At the call of a number of leading democrats in the city a dinner was held at Durand's cafe last night, when Senator Hoke Smith, Judge John S. Candler, Hooper Alexander, J. K. Orr and Asa G. Candler spoke. J. K. Orr presided, and after the speeches a committee composed of Walter P. Andrews, chairman; John Brice, Lucian Harris, Harrison Jones, W. J. Harris and Harry Silverman was chosen to appoint subcommittees and to take up active work in raising campaign funds in Fulton county.

Georgia to Raise $30,000.

Georgia is expected to raise $20,000 as her share of the national campaign fund, according to Chairman Orr, and of this amount Fulton county is called upon for $10,000. The smaller counties in the state are expected to raise $10,000 more, while the larger counties in which are the other large cities will be called upon for the remaining $10,000.

Fulton county's assessment was given a good start when the first contribution last night was made public. Asa G. Candler gave $1,000. He was followed by Senator Smith, who gave $500, and by J. R. Gray and W. W. Orr, who contributed $250 each. Ed Brown gave $100, while Hooper Alexander and Marion Smith each gave $50. Other contributors brought the total amount up to $2,526. The remainder, it is hoped, will be raised by the committees which will begin work immediately.

In speaking of the need of funds by the democratic party practically every speaker attacked Colonel Roosevelt. Senator Smith said of him: "Good things were said by the Roosevelt regime and bad things were done. He now extends promises of reform to the people with one hand, while with the other he accepts contributions from the special privileges. I would regard his election as the greatest calamity, which, if it proceeded to its natural consequence, would bring about the overthrow of the national government. I do not believe he would leave the white house after again being elected until he was carried out feet foremost."

Candler Attacks Roosevelt.

Judge John S. Candler said: "Roosevelt is an incipient anarchist, and should he be elected the constitution

HUMPHREY OUT; HARMAN ENTERS

Councilman From Eighth Ward Is in Hospital in Baltimore.

Councilman W. G. Humphrey, of the eighth ward, has decided not to stand for re-election. Charles E. Harman, general passenger agent of the Western and Atlantic railway, will stand for election in his stead.

Shortly after the assessmenr fee of Councilman Humphrey was paid Friday, a telegram was received from him in Baltimore by his constituents stating that he would not be able to make the race, and withdrew his name. He is at Johns Hopkins hospital, recovering from an operation.

Councilman Humphrey's friends then communicated with Mr. Harman by wire and asked him to stand for election. He agreed to do so only under the condition that Councilman Humphrey's decision was final.

As vice chairman of the finance committee and chairman of the police committee, Mr. Humphrey has been of inestimable value, both to his friends of the eighth ward and to the city, and it was a disappointment to his friends to learn that he would be unable to stand for re-election. They are satisfied, however, that Mr. Harman will serve them with equal faithfulness, and they will throw their entire support to him.

The assessment fee which was paid for Mr. Humphrey will today be transferred to the name of Mr. Harman, and he will be actively in the race before the primary closes today at noon.

Mr. Harman authorized the above announcement by wire Friday afternoon.

TWO JUDGES FOR THE SAME OFFICE

Waycross, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Unless the two men holding appointments as judge of the city court of Blackshear, in Pierce county, become reconciled and enter into some kind of agreement a rather unusual situation will face the city court next week. Judge W. A. Milton was appointed judge for a term of four years in August, 1911, Governor Hoke Smith making the appointment. Judge R. G. Mitchell was appointed in August, 1912, by Governor Joseph M. Brown. The last-named appointment was confirmed by the Georgia senate. The first was not.

The appointment of Judge Mitchell starts his term of office August, 1911, the date the court was created. For the year between the creation of the court and the appointment of Judge Mitchell the city court judge was Judge Milton, and he proposes to continue for the four years, if possible.

That there will be something doing Monday when court opens seems certain now. Neither judge seems to want to give way to the other unless compelled to do so legally.

The two judges have a wide circle of friends throughout the state who will await with interest the outcome of the situation. While no statements have been made by either man involved in the matter, it is said that there may be no settlement other than a legal one, and that even then the very highest authority will be sought before the fight will be dropped.

DECLARES WALDO GAVE PROTECTION

Inspector Hayes Tells Why He Didn't Raid Resorts.

New York, September 6.—Whether Police Commissioner Waldo gave "general instructions to suppress disorderly houses and private verbal orders to allow them to run as long as conditions of 'outward decency' were observed," became the question at issue today when C. G. Hayes, suspended inspector, was placed on trial before Deputy Police Douglas I. MacKay on the charge of making a false statement in regard to his police duties.

While Hayes was ostensibly the defendant, Thomas D. Thacher, Hayes' counsel, virtually transformed the trial into a probe of the police department and an arraignment of the policy of Mayor Gaynor toward the regulation of vice.

Verbal Orders Given.

The attorney grilled Commissioner Waldo in an effort to show that "outward decency" was the criterion by which the mayor wished the question of vice suppression to be determined, and then put Hayes on stand to prove that the commissioner had given the inspector verbal orders in pursuance of this policy, and had not countermanded them until they had become public. Hayes emphatically denied that he had made a false statement when he told the commissioner the latter had ordered him not to make raids on disorderly houses except from the commissioner's instructions. In accordance with these instructions he had made no raids, he said, since February, although previously he had made many and had "cleaned out" one inspection district.

It was on August 8, or about the time when the scandals growing out of the Rosenthal case were being aired, that Commissioner Waldo, according to the witness, threatened to "fire" him for stating that he had received such orders. This he threatened to do on two subsequent occasions, Hayes testified, but it was not until August 16, the day after the publication of an interview from "an inspector," who was quoted as saying he had received such orders from the commissioner, that Waldo made good his alleged threats by suspending him and reducing him to a captain's rank.

Hayes mentioned two or three conversations he had with Mr. Waldo in regard to suppressing disorderly houses.

"Do you remember a conversation

U. S. TROOPS HAVE SKIRMISH WITH REBELS FROM MEXICO AND FORCE THEM TO RETREAT

15 Troopers Hold Back 25 Raiders, Killing 5 and Wounding One.

Douglas, Ariz., September 6.—Mexican rebels crossed the boundary and were engaged by United States soldiers on the Lang ranch, 50 miles east of Douglas, according to a report received here tonight.

Fourteen American troopers held back 25 rebels, killing five and wounding one of the Mexicans, it is reported. The rebels are believed to be in command of Inez Salazar, whose men also engaged American soldiers below Hachita, N. M., farther to the east.

El Paso, September 6.—Reports of a skirmish between United States troops and Mexican rebels, who crossed the international line below Hachita, N. M., were received today by General E. Z. Steever, at Fort Bliss.

Mexican rebels engaged fifteen men of the Third cavalry, according to the official report, and one rebel was captured.

An hour later a strong body of rebels crossed the line, but were driven into Mexico by the American soldiers after fighting at long range.

Entrance of Mexican rebels into the United States and the subsequent engagement with United States troops below Hachita, N. M., as reported today to General E. Z. Steever, at Fort Bliss, Texas, marks the sixth invasion of American soil in the last few weeks.

It is probable that the border patrol along the Sonora line will be strengthened, say officials at Fort Bliss, from where General Steever commands the department of Texas as well as the Arizona and New Mexico border adjacent. At present there are only three troops of the Third cavalry stationed near Hachita, where a number of the invasions by rebels have occurred recently.

Although no one was injured in the brush today the incident is deemed of more than passing import.

Looking for Trouble.

It is asserted that Inez Salazar, the rebel chief operating below the New Mexico border, is intent on causing international complications, coincident with his disarmament of American settlers in the state of Chihuahua.

iSnce the invasion of Sonora by rebels, Salazar has made many incendiary speeches and has issued a proclamation against Americans, according to advices received by military authorities. It is believed the rebels know the dividing line between New Mexico and the Mexican state of Sonora and that the expedition on American soil, as reported today, was merely made to antagonize the United States troops statioped along the border. The rebels are in great need of ammunition and the activity of the American soldiers in preventing the smuggling of munitions of war has caused much ill feeling.

WOMEN PASSENGERS SEE CONDUCTOR SHOOT NEGRO

Henry Gibson, a negro, was shot and probably mortally wounded by John A. Banks, a conductor on a Houston to Copenhill trolley car, early last night when the negro advanced upon him with a drawn revolver.

Gibson was carried to Grady hospital. He is expected to die at any moment. Banks came to police headquarters, surrendered, and was released upon $300 bond. He will be tried in police court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The shooting was witnessed by a crowded car of homegoers living in the Copenhill section, among which were many women.

The wounded negro first was carried to his home at 182 East Ellis street. Plainclothes Policemen Sturdivant and Wiley found him lying unconscious on the doorsteps, and sent him to Grady hospital in an ambulance. He regained consciousness long enough to make a statement, in which he declared the car conductor was the aggressor in the affair.

Eyewitnesses Offer Names.

According to eyewitnesses who besieged Conductor Banks and the motorman to offer their names as witnesses for the trial today, Gibson asked to be let off at Butler street on Houston. As the conductor called Butler street the negro threw up his hand.

"That's me," he said.

The car stopped, and passengers were let on and off. Banks went to Gibson and asked him if he didn't ask to get off at Butler street.

"I did," the negro answered, "why didn't you stop?"

Banks told him the car had stopped, when the negro retorted that the conductor was a liar.

The negro repeated the word with more violent language, and was ordered off the car. He swung off near Bell street, threatening the conductor.

Running Toward Car.

As the car stopped at Bell street Banks saw Gibson and another negro running rapidly toward the car. Fearing trouble, he stepped from the platform to the street. He told the police that Gibson carried a gun in his hand.

"Don't you come nearer this car," Banks told the approaching negro.

A few words followed, in which the negro is said to have told the conductor to get out his gun and start shooting. Banks drew his pistol and shot once. Gibson fell to his knees and hands, and raised his revolver. The conductor fired again, when the negro who had accompanied the wounded black picked him up and carried him into the darkness.

Banks is a young man, and lives at 41 Fitzgera street.

NEGRO SHOT WHEN HE INSULTED LADY

Savannah Woman in Launch Uses Rifle When Negro Offers Affront.

Savannah, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Rowing by Mrs. R. K. Jones, who was in a launch anchored a short distance from the Savannah Yacht club in Thunderbolt river, this afternoon, Guy Smith, a negro, made an insulting remark to her, and Mrs. Jones shot him in the neck.

The shooting was done with a small rifle, and the ball passed through Smith's neck. He is badly wounded.

According to Mrs. Jones, she was sitting in the boat when Smith came up in a rowboat and made an insulting remark and attempted to climb into the launch. Picking up the rifle from the bottom of the boat, she fired, and Smith fell into the bottom of his boat.

Smith's story is that he did not know how to row, and accidentally ran into the launch, and that, without warning, Mrs. Jones picked up the rifle and shot him.

WHITEHALL, THE DAYLIGHT CORNER

and held up before the crush of excited delegates a sheet of yellow paper on which was written: "He accepts."

Quickly the word passed back through the hall and another demonstration followed. Chairman Hotchkiss was allowed to act as chairman in place of Mr. Straus. The nomination of Mr. Hotchkiss for governor was withdrawn by John A. Kingsbury and Timothy Woodruff withdrew the name of Mr. Prendergast. Then came a flood of speeches seconding the nomination of the former minister to Turkey.

Suspender Jack Thanked.

"Suspender Jack" McGee was not lost sight of. Delegates pressed about him and proclaimed him "the man of the hour." Later the convention passed a vote of thanks to Delegate McGee, of the fifteenth assembly district, for nominating Mr. Straus.

When the convention had recovered and Mr. Straus had been chosen unanimously, he was called on for a speech and tendered an ovation as he formally accepted the nomination.

"The cause we are in is a cause of inspiration" he said in his speech. "I must accept."

Bull Moose Ticket.

Tonight few contests developed, and the ticket as finally selected was:

Governor—Oscar S. Straus, New York.

Lieutenant Governor—Former State Senator Frederick M. Davenport, Oneida.

Associate Judge of Court of Appeals—Carlos C. Alden, Buffalo, and George W. Kirchway, Columbia university.

Secretary of State—Homer S. Call, Syracuse.

State Comptroller—Horatio C. King, Brooklyn.

Attorney General—John Palmieri, Brooklyn.

State Treasurer—Ernest Cawcroft, Jamestown.

Sketch of Straus.

New York, September 6.—Oscar S. Straus, brother of Nathan Straus, and of the late Isidor Straus, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster, has always been an independent in politics. He was secretary of the citizens' committee that helped in 1884 to elect William R. Grace mayor of New York city, and was prominent in the merchants and business men's organization which supported the democratic ticket in that year. In 1896 and 1900 he supported McKinley, and in 1904 was in favor of Roosevelt. In 1906 he was made secretary of commerce and labor by Mr. Roosevelt, winning the distinction of being the first Jew to hold a place in a cabinet.

Mr. Straus was appointed minister to Turkey in 1887 by President Cleveland. His knowledge of international law brought him into immediate relations with the porte, and this enabled him to obtain concessions for the American mission schools. He obtained a letter from the sultan which acted as a charter, and under this fifty schools that had been closed for years were reopened and all the 550 missions were protected. In 1890 he returned to America. He was reappointed to the office of minister to Turkey in 1897 by President McKinley, and retained it for three years. In 1902 President Roosevelt appointed him to the vacancy in the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague, caused by the death of ex-president Harrison. He was named as ambassador to Turkey, this time by President Taft, in May, 1909, and served until December of the following year.

Schoolboy in Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., September 6.—Oscar Straus, brother of Isadore and Nathan Straus, was born in Otterberg, Bavaria, December 23, 1850. His father, the late L. Straus, moved to Georgia in 1854, settling at Talbotton, where he resided until 1858, when he came to Columbus and engaged in business.

During his residence in Columbus young Oscar was but a boy just old enough to attend school, which he did in this city.

The family moved from Columbus to New York in 1865, Oscar Straus being only 15 years of age at that time.

The Straus family was one of the most prominent Jewish families that ever resided in this section and were universally liked.

Oscar Straus, while a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, made a visit to Columbus about six years ago, at which time a big banquet was arranged in his honor.

Dentist Goes in Business.

Jackson, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Dr. R. A. Franklin, who has been engaged in the practice of dentistry here for the last twelve years, has given up that profession to enter the cotton business in Atlanta. He will be associated with the firm of Smith & Etheridge, and left Friday to take up his residence in the Gate City.

TEDDY INVADES NORTH DAKOTA

Wall Street Juggling With Old Parties, He Declares.

Says Republicans and Democrats Are Playing See-Saw With Wall Street in the Middle, Teetering Them Up and Down.

Fargo, N. D., September 6.—"The republicans and democrats are playing see-saw with Wall street in the middle, teetering them up and down," Colonel Roosevelt told the progressive convention here today. He was telling the delegates that Jacob Schiff, the New York banker, had announced that he would support Governor Wilson as the only means of saving the republican party through defeating the progressives.

"If Mr. Schiff," he continued, "can beat the progressives with the democratic party he hopes that they will come back to the same old see-saw, the two parties nominally against one another, each under control of privilege, one coming up, one going down with the man in the middle to teeter the see-saw."

The voters of the country were divided into two classes by Colonel Roosevelt in his speeches today, those with and those against the progressive party. Colonel Roosevelt criticised Woodrow Wilson for his stand in regard to the progressive proposal for an interstate industrial commission to regulate large corporations.

On Way to Montana.

He was whirled across North Dakota by special train, made half a dozen speeches and tonight was on his way to Montana. He stopped for an hour in Grand Forks this morning, put in most of the afternoon in Fargo and tonight made a brief address at Jamestown. He reminded his hearers that he was a citizen of North Dakota, in former years, "come back to speak for the party which was trying to put into effect the principles that were ground into me here."

In Fargo the progressive state convention was in session and the delegates went to a park to hear him. Later he made an address in the convention hall. In his address at the park he likened conditions to those of 1864, when a third ticket against Lincoln was proposed. Then he said:

"If a man is not with us he is against us, and if he is against us, he is siding with the reactionaries. No matter how well-meaning he may be, no matter how sincerely he may think he is a progressive, he is the ally of Wall street, the ally of privilege, the ally of bossism in politics, unless he heartily and in good faith supports the progressive party.

"This is not a question of personalities. The principles of the progressives have been embodied in their platform. The only way to support these principles and the platform is to support the men who are the nominees of the progressive party."

Continues Attack on Wilson.

Grand Forks, N. D., September 6.—"I do not believe the American people will, and they ought not to, put into power a party which enunciates principles which must be immediately repudiated by the party's candidate when he goes before the people," said Colonel Roosevelt here today in speaking of the democratic party and Woodrow Wilson.

The colonel attacked the political leaders who have espoused "progressive" principles, but have retained their old political connection instead of joining the progressive party.

Saying that Governor Wilson had stated that the democratic platform was not a program, Colonel Roosevelt continued:

"We can get along with a man if he will tell what he means to do. The man or the party we can't get along with is that one which says what his or its principles are and then says what he or it really does not mean.

"If the democratic party's plank on the tariff says what the party does not mean, then we can't trust any promise it makes on any subject. If it does mean what it says on the tariff we'll have the tariff abolished not only with Canada, but with every other country. You are opposed to Canadian reciprocity in this state and on this point alone you should be with the progressives."

WARM WEATHER OVER, SAYS THE FORECASTER

No more extremely warm weather is the welcome announcement of the weather man, who declares that summer is practically over, in actuality as well as officially. When the showers which are expected for today arrive the backbone of the hot spell will be broken, and hereafter the streets of Atlanta will not be deserted in the early afternoon as has been the case for some time past.

In addition to the warm weather coming to an end it is probable that the deficient mark in the rain column will be wiped out today. At present the month is minus about three-fourths of an inch of rain, as none has fallen since September 1.

The showers are expected to continue through Sunday, after which dry weather will again prevail.

$10,000 IN GOLD COIN STOLEN FROM COUNTY

Merced, Cal., September 6.—Ten thousand dollars in gold coin, presumably contained in a single sack, is believed to have been stolen from the vaults of the county treasurer within a month. Police believe the money was abstracted during business hours, as the vault is equipped with a time lock and shows no signs of having been tampered with. Announcement of the shortage was made yesterday.

Colonel Snowden Dies.

Philadelphia, September 7.—Colonel A. Louden Snowden, former minister to Spain, Greece and the Balkan states, died at his home in Bryn Mawr early this morning. Colonel Snowden had been ill for a long time. He was appointed consul general and minister to Greece, Roumania and Servia by President Harrison, and afterward transferred to the court at Madrid.

LOVERS COMMIT DOUBLE MURDER

Inflamed By Illicit Love, Pair Planned Horror.

A. L. Watson Makes Way With His Wife and Then Kills C. C. Bailey After Mrs. Bailey Had Failed to Poison Husband.

Shreveport, La., September 6.—Additional details of the confession of Mrs. C. C. Bailey and A. L. Watson, as announced by Sheriff J. P. Flournoy today, reveal a plot extending back over months, the first result of which, according to the sheriff, was the assassination of Watson's wife in Texas, Watson's coming to Metcalf, La., his employment by Bailey in the latter's sawmill and the murder of Bailey as he lay asleep Monday night. The confessions were made in writing.

Watson Kills Wife.

Three months ago at Flannigan, Texas, according to the confessions, Mrs. Bailey and Watson, violently in love, entered into a compact by which Watson was to poison his wife and Mrs. Bailey her husband. Watson succeeded in making way with his wife unsuspected, but repeated efforts by Mrs. Bailey failed, because, as she said, she did not know how to administer the poison.

Watson came to Louisiana and secured work of Bailey. He urged Mrs. Bailey to use haste in murdering her husband, and she tried, but again failed. Finally Watson undertook the murder himself, he says, because he was tired of waiting for sole possession of the woman. Bailey became suspicious and quarreled with his wife. Monday she left their home.

Husband Is Slain.

Watson crept into the house in the dead of night, carrying a heavy ax, with which he says he slew Bailey. "When I raised the ax," asserts Watson, "to strike that sleeping man, I said to myself:

"'This will send your soul to hell.' That's where I belong and the sooner I'm hanged the better I will be satisfied."

Watson is 45 years of age and has three daughters, one of whom, it is said, is married and resides at Jefferson, Texas. Neither the man nor the woman, in their cells here, showed any regret today. A special term of court possibly will be convened to try the two.

Mrs. Bailey was born near Myrtis, La., twenty-seven years ago. Bailey married her six years ago. Their life together was happy until she made the acquaintance of Watson at Flannigan, Texas. Her two children, the eldest 5 and the youngest 2 years, have been for some time in the care of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rawls, at Myrtis, a small town in this parish.

you had with Waldo on September 5," asked Mr. Thacher.

Makes Tour With Waldo.

"I do. I met him at the West Forty-seventh street police station, the appointment having been made over the telephone. I made a tour of my district with him. As we passed a dance hall the commissioner said to me, 'There is a dance hall downstairs and a house for prostitution upstairs. If there is no outside disorder it is well to have them in such a place rather than on the outside.'"

Mr. Thacher handed Captain Hayes a list of disorderly houses raided by him.

"In these cases where arrests were made, did you act in accordance with orders from Commissioner Waldo?"

"I did not. I made these arrests on complaints of reputable citizens. They were all in apartment houses and up until last February."

"On February 13 last, Commissioner Waldo sent for me," Hayes continued. "The commissioner said, 'I thought you were keeping an eye on disorderly houses?' I said I was. Commissioner Waldo said, 'I have been told by a newspaper man that the raids your men made were for the purpose of graft. Keep your men out of disorderly houses and in future if you get a letter or complaint bring it to me before you make a raid and make raids only on my approval.'"

The witness described his conversation with Waldo on August 8, as follows:

Threatened With Dismissal.

"When I came into the commissioner's presence he said, 'Hayes, what are you doing about the disorderly houses in your district?' I replied, 'Nothing.' 'Why?' he asked. 'Because you told me not to,' I replied. 'I'll fire you right now if you say that,' said the commissioner, making a threatening motion with his hands."

"Did he fire you?"

"Not that day," replied the witness.

On August 15 the commissioner sent him a letter ordering him to suppress disorderly houses in his district, which, he said, was the first letter of its kind he had received from the commissioner.

Every material statement Hayes made, each previously put in the form of a question by Thacher, was denied by Mr. Waldo, who preceded the police officer on the stand.

"I never gave Hayes any orders other than general instructions to observe peace and good order and enforce the laws," Mr. Waldo said.

The trial will go on tomorrow, when Hayes will be cross-examined.

WILSON TO FIGHT JERSEY CAMPAIGN

Governor Intimates He Will Take Part in Senatorial Race.

Seagirt, N. J., September 6.—Governor Wilson intimated tonight that he probably would take part in the senatorial fight in New Jersey in which former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., is again a candidate. Two years ago he spoke throughout the state in opposition to Mr. Smith.

Judge John E. Westcott, who nominated Mr. Wilson at the Baltimore convention and is now a candidate for United Stataes senator, called today at the summer capital. Governor Wilson declared tonight that he understood Judge Westcott would remain in the senatorial fight. Similar word comes from Representative William Hughes and State Senator Gebhardt, who also are candidates for United States senator.

The presidential nominee will meet National Chairman William F. McCombs in New York city Monday for the first time since the latter went to the Adirondacks to recuperate from his illness.

In the evening he will speak before the New York Press club. On Tuesday he will review a parade and speak at the encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans at Atlantic City. On Wednesday he will address the Hudson County democrats at Jersey City, and on Thursday, the 12th, will speak at the New York state fair at Syracuse.

He plans to return to Seagirt on Friday, September 13, and rest until Sunday, when he will begin his trip to Sioux City, Iowa, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Milwaukee, Columbus and Pittsburg. He said he would speak at Cleveland, Ohio, in October.

is doomed and the country damned."

"He takes upon his shoulders credit for things which he never did," said Asa G. Candler of the colonel. "He got great glory from the part he said he took in the battle of San Juan hill. Instead of being there, he was so far away from San Juan hill when the battle was fought that he could hardly hear the cannon. It was the same way in his so-called peace-making between the Russians and Japanese. In reality he was merely an incident of the Portsmouth treaty, but he caused the country to believe that he was the cause."

All the speakers paid tribute to Wilson and the present opportunity of the democratic party, expressing their belief that Wilson was sure to be elected.

The campaign committee will begin collecting contributions immediately and Atlanta's share is expected to be raised by September 20.

BIGAMY CHARGED TO JOSEPH REESE

Wife No. 1 in Atlanta, No. 2 in Milwaukee, It Is Said.

Milwaukee, Wis., September 6.—(Special.)—Charging that Joseph Reese, 38, a traveling man, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., committed bigamy when he married her in Milwaukee, June 16, 1905, Mrs. Elizabeth Reese, trict attorney's office Friday and obtrict attorney's office Fradly and obtained a warrant for his arrest.

Wife number one, it is alleged in the complaint, is Mrs. Anna Reese, Atlanta, Ga., who was married to Reese January 16, 1903, and who is the mother of his three children.

According to the district attorney Reese met wife number two, who was Miss Elizabeth Kelley, at a soda fountain in May, 1905. A flirtation began and several months later when Reese was again in Milwaukee they were married. Reese remained in Milwaukee for almost a year, and then left to go with the Indianapolis firm.

Since then, it is charged, he has not returned to Milwaukee, but has written wife number two and has sent her small amounts of money. He has always provided for wife number one and the three children, says Mrs. Reese.

ated with the knowledge of the police, would be forced to remove to the Manhattan avenue area, but it has been stated, and on good authority, that these places would not be molested, at least for a time. The commission will urge the mayor and chief of police to ferret out houses in neighborhoods outside the restricted district. The proposed regulation for compulsory registration of women will not be urged by the commission, but it will be recommended that the police adopt such a system as will enable the chief of police and the mayor to keep the inmates of resorts constantly under surveillance.

The methods adopted in other cities—Minneapolis and Denver, for instance—will be explained in the report. The committee will not make any suggestion as to passing laws or ordinances against the evil.

The commission's report will deal with the use of the telephone as an agency by which owners of resorts keep in touch with the evil house or flat, and as an easy communication between men and women for coming together without publicity.

The commission will probably not meet again until October.

SCORE OF DEATHS REVEALED BY GIRL

She Tells of Wholesale Murders in Chicago Suburb.

Frances Ford, Arrested as Accessory in Messmaker's Death, Describes How Men Were Lured to Resort and Then Poisoned.

Chicago, September 6.—Revival of rumors that a number of murders had been committed in resorts in West Hammond, a suburb, came yesterday after the arrest of Frances Ford, age 20, as accessory before the fact in connection with the death of John Messmaker on August 13.

The girl made a statement to Coroner Hoffman and Assistant County Attorney Johnson dealing with vice conditions in the village during the past year.

Messmaker, it is said, was drugged and a hypodermic injection of poison was given him. The girl admitted being with him shortly before he died.

Although the girl admitted that she and Messmaker drank heavily the day before he died, she denied that she saw him drugged.

Coroner Hoffman expects a report Saturday from a chemist who is making an examination of Messmaker's body for poison. He said last night that if traces of poison are found he will undertake an investigation of other West Hammond deaths.

The girl is said to have given the authorities information against certain West Hammond resort keepers in regard to white slave traffic.

Her arrest was made on complaint of Miss Virginia Brooks, who has been leading an anti-vice crusade in West Hammond.

In her statement to Coroner Hoffman, the girl told of a bottle which she said always was kept behind the bar of a saloon, and which she understood was to be given to men under the influence of liquor and who were thought to have considerable money.

It is alleged by Miss Brooks that a score of deaths have occurred in West Hammond resorts that have never been explained. Only three are of record.

NEGRO IS SAVED FROM GALLOWS

Major Jesse Perry Has Hard Time Getting Message to Sheriff.

Major Jesse G. Perry, secretary to Governor Brown, spent an anxious ninety minutes yesterday morning, and had the satisfaction finally of saving the life of Johnson Webb, a negro, who was condemned to hang in Blakely county for murder.

Governor Brown had passed upon the case and refused to grant executive clemency. Under the law, therefore, Webb was to atone for his crime with his life between the hours of 11 and 2 o'clock today.

When the governor reached the office Friday morning about 10:30 from his home in Marietta, he found a large number of telegrams from prominent citizens of Blakely, urging him to stay the execution until newly-discovered evidence of importance could be presented to him.

Thus importuned, the governor decided to grant a respite of two weeks, and told Mr. Perry to see that the executive message was gotten to the sheriff of Baker county. A long-distance call was put in and the reply came back that the telephone wires were down. Telegrams were filed and Mr. Perry got Manager Peebles, of the Western Union, on the phone and explained the urgency of the case.

Mr. Peebles put all the machinery of his office to work; gave the governor's messages the right of way over all lines, duplicated them from both Jacksonville, Fla., and Montgomery, Ala., where they were relayed over every line going into Baker county.

Once before Secretary Perry has had a similar experience. An eleventh hour appeal to Governor Slaton resulted in a hurry up message of clemency to the sheriff of Lowndes county, which stayed an execution when the rope had already been adjusted to the condemned criminal's neck. He was respited, but later hung.

BURGLARS OPERATE ON VAST SCALE

New York, September 6.—One of the most thorough jobs of wholesale burglary ever accomplished in New York city was discovered shortly after daybreak this morning, when the police were called to an eleven-story loft building in University place by the sounding of a burglar alarm. It was found that burglars had been through every one of the first eight floors, which were occupied by clothing manufacturers; had gone through all the stock rooms and offices and had removed several truck loads of merchandise. It was impossible to obtain any accurate estimate of the total loss, but the police believe it will reach $50,000.

AIRSHIPS CLAIM THREE VICTIMS

Stevanage, England, September 6.—Two more British army officers lost their lives while flying today. Captain Patrick Hamilton had taken Lieutenant Stewart with him as a passenger in his biplane. The two officers had flown for a considerable time when one of the wings of the aeroplane collapsed. The machine fell to the ground from an altitude of 250 feet and was destroyed. The bodies of the two officers were found in the wreck.

Captain Hamilton had obtained his pilot's certificate only on March 15 this year. He was an infantry officer, belonging to the Worcestershire regiment, but was detached for duty to the army flying corps. Lieutenant Stewart was not an aviator.

Munich, Bavaria, September 6.—Lieutenant Steger, of the Bavarian army, ascended in his biplane today to report the position of the opposing force in the local maneuvers. The weather was very stormy and when his machine had reached a height of 300 feet it suddenly buckled and crashed to the earth.

AUTOMOBILE MEN PLAN NOVEL AD

Salesmen Will Register From "Atlanta Automobile Show."

The Atlanta auto show, which will be held in the Auditorium, November 16 to 23, will be brought to the attention of the people of the south in a unique way, by having the traveling representatives of Atlanta automobile and accessory houses register thus: "Bill Jones (or whatever his name might be), from Atlanta Auto Show."

The scheme originated with the members of the show committee, and is being indorsed by every member of the Atlanta A. A. A.

Traveling salesmen are recognized as the best boosters in the world for any sort of project, and the association feels that when once the knights of the grip begin hammering at a proposition, they don't stop until they have the heads of their friends crammed full.

Chairman Wiley West, of the show committee, left Atlanta last night. He is going to New Orleans, and thence to Mobile, New York and Atlantic City. He is loaded down with literature boosting Atlanta and the auto show, and expects to have every auto dealer in the east interested in the project before he starts back home.

ROGERS BEGINS SELLING MEATS

Scott Allen, manager of the Rogers chain of grocery stores, announces a new department which they will inaugurate at their 309 Ponce de Leon avenue store.

This is to be an up-to-date meat market, which will be operated in connection with their retail store located at that place.

Mr. Allen states that running thirty-six stores is a pretty big job by itself, but that the demand by their customers for the selling of meats at their various stores has been so insistent that they have finally decided to try the plan out.

He states that they will handle only the choicest and freshest western meats, and that they have gone into this new department with the idea of making it a big success.

While this is the only store that will sell meats at the present, it is believed that the announcement of others will follow shortly, and that in the course of time all Rogers' stores will operate a meat market department.

The principal loser in the fire was the International Provision company, whose four-story packing house was also swept by the flames and damaged to the extent of about $150,000.

MARTHA WASHINGTON RECIPE FOR PEARS

Philadelphia, September 6.—Martha Washington's own recipe for preserving pears has been brought to light among some unpublished colonial papers in the possession of Mrs. Arvilla McDonough. The recipe is as follows:

"The pears should be very fresh. Wash and put them into boiling rye for a minute. Remove and put them into cold water. Next put the fruit into a prepared syrup of sugar and water. Use a half-pound of sugar for every pound of fruit; water to dissolve. Now cook for a quarter of an hour. Remove and put on plates to cool. Boil syrup down to one-half its original quantity. Put syrup and pears into jars and add brandy. Seal while hot."

PALMETTO FRAUD GROWS STEADILY

Reports of Election Scandals Are Pouring In From Additional Counties.

Columbia, S. C., September 6.—The general call of John Gary Evans, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, yesterday for funds to conduct the investigation of alleged election frauds, and for all information of fraud that came under the knowledge of voters, is already bearing fruit.

Some of the late information is startling. From counties where no rumors of fraud had escaped are now reported specific instances where the ballot was debauched. Darlington and Greenwood counties are the latest to unearth scandals. In Greenwood county one of the boxes had twenty-four more votes in it than there were names on the registration list; another box had eighteen, and still another ten more than should have been in them. The lists have not been revised in some years, and this indicates the number of fraudulent votes may be two or three times as great as the excess vote shows on the face of the returns.

In Darlington it was found that fifty-eight names appeared on the list in the voting precincts that were not on the registration list, and that in many instances one man was allowed to vote more than once. Judge Jones has contested the vote of every county in the state, and, judging from recent disclosures, irregularities may be found in each.

RUSHES HOME AS FIANCE DROWNS

Dr. Newton, on Scientific Quest, Ignorant of His Loss.

Washington, September 6.—Dr. Philip Newton, speeding homeward on a Pacific liner from a scientific expedition in the Philippines for the Smithsonian institution, is ignorant that his bride-to-be was buried here today.

Alice Dorothy Nixon, who was drowned here Tuesday, attempting to save a companion, was the fiance. A cablegram he had sent her announcing his coming arrived a few hours after her death.

Bankers Will Meet in Detroit.

Detroit, September 6.—Plans have almost been completed for the reception and entertainment of the delegates to the national convention of the American Bankers' association in Detroit next week. The local committee in charge announced yesterday that the excursion steamer City of Detroit has been chartered as a "floating hotel" for the bankers' benefit during the convention.

The heavy harvests are the real country-savers.

Good roads in Dixie for band wagons and harvest teams.

Not to be behind in the row, even the Culebra Cut is cutting up again.

Anyway, they must hand it to Vermont for trying to please all parties.

If politicians only had time, they'd find something besides Armageddon in the Bible.

It is the season when they feed the hungry with reasons for the high cost of living.

The recent vote in Ohio was comparatively light, but the suffragettes didn't see any light in it.

Even if the Colonel should lose his voice he wouldn't give himself away by advertising for it.

There may be congressmen whose fences need no fixing, but they are too modest to brag about it.

The American Press Humorists are in session, and all the solemnities of the occasion will be observed.

The Colonel is willing to give the band a chance. He isn't so happy that he is laughing to beat it.

What a campaign it is, where a candidate denies, then explains his denial, then denies his explanation!

Taft shouldn't have made a speech in Boston, where he had to talk high over the heads of the common people.

England may get on Uncle Sam's nerves, but he's always had a winning way in settling his differences with her.

When they get back to the soil after a long session they sometimes wish that it would open and swallow them.

It isn't a grand army standing at Armageddon, but what there is of it will be tired enough to rest anywhere.

An exchange says there is enough coal to last 25,000 years. Think of the flourishing long time the trust has before it!

To show what a patient, long-suffering country it is, 18,000,000 words were spoken during the recent session of congress.

In a noiseless rolling chair Taft was wheeled to meet a delegation. What a come-down from the all-crushing steam-roller!

Authors are plain, practical persons now. Behold the writer of the winter novel dictating his pages from a dripping refrigerator.

Some of the vacationists had such a strenuous time of it, we may expect to see them wheeled home in roller-chairs, or borne on stretchers.

Everybody was in such good humor over the adjournment of congress that even Sunny Jim Sherman came in for a few complimentary paragraphs.

When the third-termer is through with the campaign speaking and letter-writing, his record for words will be far in excess of the Congressional Record.

Since the new postal regulations authors may instruct publishers to arrange it so that their royalty checks will reach them on Saturday, that there may be no danger of missing their Sunday dinner.

THE GILMER COUNTY CONTEST.

The first important official act of Georgia's new democratic state executive committee, taken with reference to the Gilmer county contest in the Blue Ridge judicial circuit, gives assurance that for the next two years the party's affairs will be in strong and capable hands.

It is needless to rehash the charges of fraud and corrupt practices brought by the protestant, H. L. Patterson, and denied by the incumbent, Judge N. A. Morris. The accusations, to the smallest detail, were threshed out conscientiously and thoroughly before the committee. Each side was represented by able counsel, and each side was given fullest opportunity—the one to present evidence substantiating its allegations, the other to present testimony in rebuttal.

The committee sat as a competent tribunal. A significant feature of the hearing was the evident anxiety of all members to determine facts in entire fairness, irrespective of the particular faction involved. The overwhelming vote by which the protest was sustained, the committee's verdict later being made unanimous, is conclusive demonstration of the impression produced by the cumulative evidence.

Above all others, the judicial function in democratic government needs to be kept clean of the least suspicion of taint or irregularity. Let the bench rest under shadow of fraud or venality and the very groundwork of free institutions is subject to the gravest menace. The committee unquestionably entered upon the discharge of its duties in the specific instance in full realization of these facts. Its members have wrought well for their state and their party.

AGGRESSIVE GEORGIA DEMOCRACY.

If the successive actions of the democratic state convention and of the democratic state executive committee are taken as auguries, there will be waged in this state such an aggressive campaign for the national ticket as should roll up for its nominees one of the largest votes Georgia has ever polled in a presidential election.

The Macon convention went on record as enthusiastically indorsing the national candidates and program, and the committee the other day took steps setting in motion machinery insuring an aggressive democratic propaganda.

The outcome of the balloting in Vermont, the nation's political barometer, bears out with added emphasis the prospects of overwhelming democratic victory next November.

The dissension that rends the once invincible republican party is shown to be complete and irreconcilable.

Colonel Roosevelt is demonstrating daily that while he cannot secure the victory for himself he can, and in all likelihood will, keep his former protege from succeeding himself, meanwhile playing straight into the hands of the democrats.

That the colonel himself realizes the national trend toward democracy is indicated in his centering his fire on Wilson and Marshall.

The revival of the fear that the closeness of the contest will throw the election into the house of representatives, thus precipitating an endless tangle, makes no more impression upon The Constitution than when it was first projected as a factor in the three-cornered equation.

The one stubborn little fact that practically all of the states in which the democratic party has a fighting chance choose their electors upon the plurality plan, operates to push into the background the contingency of an election by the house.

If the Vermont election demonstrated anything of value, it demonstrated that the new party movement would reap its recruits mainly from the old-line republican element, not only leaving the democratic hosts intact, but actually adding to them.

If that principle holds in a rock-ribbed republican state, it will hold even more infallibly in the states that are debatable.

This means, therefore, that in virtually all the states any of the parties must win to insure election, the democratic ticket may safely be expected to register a large plurality over either of its contestants. So that when the votes are all made up, Wilson and Marshall will be found to have a far lead in the electoral college over either Colonel Roosevelt or Mr. Taft.

Georgia is, of course, no more a debatable state than is Vermont. Victory is assured for the democracy. But in a year when the party is destined to return to power upon a national mandate not approximated in volume since the civil war, it is fitting that all Georgians should co-operate to the end of making the showing of this state conspicuous in the eye of the country.

PRESIDENT BARRETT'S RE-ELECTION.

The national convention of the farmers' union, in session at Chattanooga, has acted with commendable wisdom in re-electing as president Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia.

The fact that no name was presented in opposition to Mr. Barrett is an effectual indication of his growth in the faculty of leadership and of his past services to the organization.

It is axiomatic in the history of this, as of other countries, that men who can successfully direct the farming element are few in number and their tenure of power a brief one.

The task is one requiring a blend of diplomacy, aggressiveness, vision and conciliation unique in the range of leadership.

It is only necessary to recall the many individuals who have vainly essayed to head great rural movements to be convinced that the essential qualifications are rarely combined in one personality.

During Mr. Barrett's many years of incumbency, the farmers' union has spread into practically every state in America; its activities have been and are manifest in a visible awakening extending throughout the rural population of the country.

To President Barrett's intelligent initiative, as well as to his tempered restraint and deliberation, should be awarded much of the credit for this growth.

THE BANKERS AND THE CORN SHOW.

Recognition of the mutuality of interest between business and agriculture speaks in the action of many foremost bankers of Atlanta in contributing generously to the Southern corn show to be held in the Auditorium later in the fall.

Not many years ago there existed, between the business man and the farmer generally, a condition of aloofness that worked good to neither and detriment to both.

Lately, it has dawned upon both factors that the prosperity of the one was the prosperity of the other. The lesson has been driven home by the fat years, no less than those which were lean.

Specifically in the case of Georgia, is the policy of Atlanta's business men wise and far-seeing.

The various agencies encouraging the cultivation of corn in this state have increased the yield per acre perceptibly within the past few years. The thousands of boys' corn clubs have ministered materially to this end, turning the mind of the country youth toward scientific agriculture at that time when the mind is most susceptible to constructive impression.

The financiers of Atlanta and of other Georgia cities, and southern towns and states generally, have seen the effect of this trend toward diversification in increased deposits and a section-wide impulse toward prosperity.

In effect, therefore, the encouragement extended to the Southern corn show, and to agricultural movements as a whole, indicates a new era in the economic life of the south, the distinguishing feature of which is intelligent co-operation working toward the materialization of southern development.

"Just From Georgia"

On the Heights.

He climbed the Hill of Glory, and when he reached the crown,
Said he: "The world is looking, or I'd sure go rolling down!

"For the thunder growls around me,
And the lightning's lance has found
me;
Far too high for happiness, I'd now go rolling down."

He saw, far in the sunlight, the peaceful vale and stream,
The valley in the shadows, where the violets love to dream.

"The storm-clouds o'er me frown
And dim the glory-crown;
Too high—too high for happiness, I'd now go rolling down!"

Wail of the Defeated.

"With thirteen children to support," writes a defeated candidate, in The Adams Enterprise, "they've put me out the office I've held faithful for twenty year and better, and here I am, throwed out, and settin' in the sand by the roadside, with nothin' to look forward to but the sheriff comin' to foreclose a mortgage on the house I pledged for campaign expenses! Besides that, during the race I had the misfortune to be run over by three automobiles, two band-wagons and one campaign mule, and there's no free hospital hereabouts to which I could retire and end my days in peace. O, the ingratitude of politics—to put a man down and out after serving the people twenty year!"

In the Rushing Race.

In the rushing race for office he laid
'em on the shelf,
But, running everlastingly, he couldn't stop himself.

John Gilpin never flew
On the nag the village knew,
Like that chap! The world went dizzy when the race it tried to view!

Springtime and summer he went it
bold and blind;
Kept the dust a-flying on the fellows far behind.

Never time to stay,
'Twas "People, clear the way!"
And I reckon he'll be running when they blow for Judgment Day!

Nuggets in the Road.

Politics has so many fences to fix, it's a wonder it doesn't hire folks to split rails for it all the time.

Some o' the big guns who think they know more than the rest o' the world, and are always advising folks to "get back to the soil," never get back themselves until the crop's laid by and there's nothing to do but eat, drink and be merry.

Summer Growlers.

And still a row we're raisin'
When Summer says she'll stay;
If the world is blazin'
There'll be light to see the way.

ALBANY HAPPY OVER PLANS FOR NEW DEPOT

Albany, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) Albany is in almost a hilarious mood over the definite commencement of work on the handsome union passenger station which, in the course of the next few months, is to succeed the ancient shack which has been doing duty for so many years. Chief Engineer C. K. Lawrence, of the Central of Georgia railway, is in Albany for the purpose of getting things in shape, and the preliminary work is already under way. Concrete culverts are being built, preparatory to extensive grading for new tracks and the rearrangement of those now in use.

The new depot will cost more than $100,000, and will be a commodious structure. Some idea of its size is gained from the statement that the main platform will be more than 700 feet in length. It will be a building with a commodious shed arrangement, so that passengers leaving and boarding trains will be fully protected from the weather. The dimensions of the waiting rooms are especially generous, and the whole plan of the building is on lines that will care for the passenger business of a town twice as large as Albany.

There is talk of a sort of celebration when the work of tearing down the old depot begins.

BIG BUILDING STRIKE IN NEW YORK AVERTED

New York, September 6.—The biggest tie-up in the building industry that this city has seen for years has been averted, it is believed, by an agreement to refer to arbitration the demands of the sand and excavation teamsters against the Contractors' Protective association. The strike had already tied up work on the new subway and on hundreds of buildings through the city. It was estimated that from 30,000 to 40,000 building mechanics had been idle.

The strike was for the renewal of an agreement which expired last November, including a slight increase in wages and changes in working conditions.

ATLANTANS WILL TAKE THE LEAD

Large Party of Bankers Will Attend Annual Convention at Detroit, Mich.

Atlanta bankers who leave this afternoon for Detroit will take a leading part in the convention of the American Bankers' association, which meets there September 9 to 14.

Colonel Robert J. Lowry, president of the Lowry National bank, will respond to the address of welcome at the opening session of the convention. John K. Ottley, vice president of the Fourth National bank, will deliver the principal address before the clearing house association, and will preside at the discussion, which will be an interesting feature of that meeting.

The Atlanta bankers will travel with a large party of southeastern bankers in a special train over the Southern railway. In Cincinnati they will be joined by the bankers from the Mississippi valley and the southwest, and will be entertained by the Cincinnati bankers at breakfast and in an automobile ride over the city. Another special train will convey the party, probably 200 strong, to Detroit. James Freeman, division passenger agent of the Southern, will accompany the party.

Those going from Atlanta will be Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ottley and Miss Ottley, Mr. and Mrs. William Hurd Hillyer, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Blalock, H. C. Heinz, Dr. John Hurt, Haynes McFadden and James H. Nunnally.

Others in the party will be Captain Henry Blun, Savannah; H. C. McCutcheon, O. V. Lamar, Columbus; Rufus Brown, A. S. Hatch, Augusta; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hillyer, W. E. Stetson, C. B. Lewis, Macon; S. J. Harvey, Milton, Fla.; B. W. Hunt, Eatonton; J. E. Lumus, Miami, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Hardwick and daughter, Dalton; H. L. Turner, Dallas; R. J. Sanders, Gainesville; C. H. Shelton, Brunswick, and J. W. Hoffman, Savannah. Others will be added to the party en route.

HOPE TO BRING LYCEUM CONVENTION TO ATLANTA

Atlanta delegates attending the International Lyceum association at Winona Lake, Ind., will make a strong effort to bring that body to Atlanta next year. Their efforts are being seconded by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the governor of Georgia and the mayor of Atlanta.

At the request of H. L. Bridges, of the Alkahest Lyceum system, telegrams extending an official invitation to the convention have been sent by the governor, the mayor and the chamber of commerce to S. Russell Bridges, Ralph Bingham and Montaville Flowers, Winona Lake, Ind., who will lead the fight for Atlanta in the convention. The following telegram was sent by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce:

"The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce joins the governor of Georgia and the mayor of Atlanta in extending to the International Lyceum association a cordial invitation to hold its next meeting in this city. Atlanta is the great center of progress, education and entertainment for the south, and a cordial welcome awaits your members.

W. G. COOPER,
"Secretary."

COKE DAVIS PROTECTS HIS POLICYHOLDERS

Prompt action on the part of Coke Davis, Atlanta agent for the Athens Mutual Fire Insurance company, will keep his customers protected in case of fire. As soon as Mr. Davis saw the notice of the company's retirement from business, and before he received the telegram officially notifying him of the action of the directors in deciding to liquidate, he had made arrangements to protect his policyholders by reinsuring his policyholders in that company in the Citizens' Fire of Charlestown, W. Va., and had taken on the Atlanta agency of the Citizens'. Mr. Davis states that his customers will lose nothing by retirement of the Athens company. The business of the Citizens' Fire is handled in the south by General Agents Hughs, Yates & Hurt, and the company has assets of nearly $700,000 and a surplus to policyholders of over $450,000. This is the company which is now owned and controlled by interests affiliated with the Fidelity & Deposit Co., of Baltimore. Its executive offices are in the Fidelity & Deposit Co.'s home office building.

HEAVY VOLTAGE CAUSED WHEN WIRE COMES DOWN

Rome, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) When a tree fell on the transmission lines of the East Tennessee Power company yesterday it broke the "lightning" wire, which fell across the three other wires carrying 66,000 volts, and short-circuited them, setting fire to the pole and charging the ground for fifty yards around with a dangerous voltage.

The fire department was hurried to the scene, but Chief Harrington would not let a stream be turned on the burning pole, which would have meant instant death to the firemen. A telegram to Cleveland, Tenn., the power station, resulted in the power's being cut off, so that the fire could be extinguished with chemicals.

In view of the recent agitation in council over the high voltage carried by these wires, it is probable that the company will be forced to build a reduction plant immediately or not be allowed to enter the city with their lines.

M'COMBS TO RESUME CHARGE OF CAMPAIGN

New York, September 6.—Announcement was made today at democratic national headquarters that William F. McCombs, chairman of the national committee, who has been ill for more than a month, will return next week and take charge of the campaign. As a campaign contribution E. L. Daughtridge, a farmer of Edgecombe county, North Carolina, today sent in $54.60, which he said he had received from the first sale of the first bale of cotton ginned this year in North Carolina.

DR. ROBT. S. MACARTHUR FILLING BOSTON PULPIT

Boston, Mass., September 6.—(Special.)—Rev. Robert S. MacArthur, D.D., who has been supplying the pulpit of Tremont temple, in this city, during the summer months, will continue his work until the middle of this month, at which time he returns to Atlanta, Ga.

TECH'S CO-OP. PLAN NEARLY COMPLETE

Places Are Rapidly Secured for Students Who Want to Help Themselves.

The details of the co-operative plan which the Georgia Tech will institute this fall for the aid of self-supporting students are about complete, and the success of the plan is fully assured. A ready co-operation has been met from the various manufacturing plants of the city.

The plan consists in dividing the students into pairs who will work together. During one week of the school year one of the pair will take the theoretical side of the work in the class room, while his partner is employed in some local plant getting practical experience, and at the same time earning his support. The following week they will alternate.

"We have secured places for about all the boys we care to place," said one of the professors in charge of the work Friday. "We are going slow and will pick out boys so that we are certain to secure only those who are in earnest and will co-operate with us as we wish to co-operate with them. There seems to be but little doubt that the plan will work out excellently, and I believe it is the coming system of work in technological schools."

SACRED HARP SINGERS OPEN THEIR CONVENTION

With the sounding of the first long-drawn "pitch" note, the Sacred Harp singers, gathered from several southern states, opened their three days' convention in the old Broughton Tabernacle Friday morning.

The singing continued all day, and will last until Sunday night. The singers are using a hymn book recently compiled, which allows of no possibility of dispute with other singing organizations. Large crowds are being daily attracted to the services, and many of the voices are full of natural beauty and sweetness.

As the Sacred Harp singers use no instruments in their worship, all the songs are opened by everybody sounding at once the pitch note to give the key for the song. Then at a signal from the leader begins the tune of the hymn, without words, which is carried through to the end. Then the words of the several stanzas are sung.

The music is best described by the word "old-fashioned," and reminds one inevitably of the shouting days of campmeeting. Each song has many parts, for male and female voices, which are chanted with a fervor and a swing that would put paid choirs to shame. While the leader is plainly to be seen of all, each man beats time for himself; but there is no confusion, and the sustained and melodious final note of the songs is always taken in unison. The singing is one of the most picturesque events held in the city in some years, and is a treat to all who love good music.

ALBANY WILL HAVE TROLLEY SYSTEM SOON

Albany, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) When the Albany Transit company meets and organizes on September 9 it will be unique in several respects. Included in the cost of organizing the company, which is to build Albany's trolley system, there will be not a dollar for promotion fees, and the stock will be on a strictly net basis. Furthermore, every dollar of the capital stock will be owned by Albany and Dougherty county business men, and the line will be built and equipped without issuing any bonds. There may be issues of bonds for future extensions, but not in connection with the carrying out of the original project.

The common meeting point will be the intersection of Pine and Washington streets, and from that center four lines will radiate. They will reach to all parts of the city, passing all public places and bringing practically every home in the city within a block and a half of the line. The company has, under its charter, until the first of May to complete the line. Charles W. Rawson, a prominent business man, is the moving spirit in the organization of the company.

EFFORT MADE TO "OUST" CORDELE CITY ATTORNEY

Cordele, G., September 6.—(Special.) To oust City Attorney E. F. Strozier and to employ D. A. R. Crum in his stead was the evident purpose of a resolution introduced by Alderman J. P. Hughes at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the city council last night that has been the subject of not a little comment among local politicians, notwithstanding the resolution was tabled until the next meeting.

Failure to furnish certain legal advice to the aldermanic body and absence on account of reported illness were the reasons set out in the resolution. Certain political differences arising during the recent campaign between R. L. Wilson and O. T. Gower for representative, involving the majority of the city council, including Alderman Hughes, against Representative Gower, because of his part in the special enactment providing for a permanent bond commission to have complete charge of the expenditure of all bond moneys, is said by some to be at the root of the "ousting" resolution.

MOKI INDIAN CHIEF MARRIES WHITE COUPLE

Los Angeles, Cal., September 6.—Doubting the sufficiency of a Moki Indian wedding ceremony, Roman Hubbell, son of the republican state chairman of Arizona, and Miss Alma Juliette Dorr, daughter of a New York capitalist, hurried to Pasadena today to be remarried by a Catholic priest before they announced the nuptials. They are said to be the first white couple ever wed under Moki rites.

Miss Dorr was visiting the Hubbell ranch at Canado, Ariz., to witness the annual Moki dance. An aged chief, learning of her engagement to young Hubbell, suggested a Moki wedding. Hubbell rode 60 miles to procure enough cornmeal to make the necessary wedding cake. When the pair had partaken of it the chief declared them man and wife.

HEAVY RAINSTORMS SWEEPING CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, September 6.—Rainstorms now sweeping California from the Oregon line far to the south are the heaviest experienced at this season for sixty-three years. Heavy damage to grapes still on the vine and to late fruits is reported, but the rain insures another alfalfa crop, benefiting dairy interests.

More than half an inch of rain had fallen in San Francisco by noon. Predictions were for an inch more in the next twenty-four hours.

BOLTERS BARRED BY COMMITTEE

Georgians Must Vote Democratic in Both National and State Elections.

No voter who "bolts" the democratic national ticket this year and votes for the republican, the progressive party, socialist or prohibition nominees for president and vice president, will be permitted to participate in the state election two years hence, according to a ruling made Thursday by the democratic state executive committee.

Notice of this important action was not given out until Friday. The resolution was offered by F. M. Longley, of Troup county, in the secret session of the committee, and adopted. It reads:

"Resolved, by the state executive committee of Georgia, That in the approaching presidential election all qualified electors casting their ballots for the democratic nominees for president and vice president of the United States shall be entitled to participate in the democratic primary two years hence, unless by their public declarations they have ceased to be democrats."

So far as the committee can, it will open the doors of the next state democratic primary to all Georgians who vote for Wilson and Marshall in November, unless they later cease to be democrats.

But the man who has been in the habit of voting the republican ticket in national elections, and then turning around and voting in the democratic state primaries, has been served with a warning. Unless he wants to be ruled out of the state primary two years from now when a United States senator, governor and other officers are to be chosen, he had better vote democratic this year. That is the interpretation placed by the committee on the Longley resolution.

Another expected effect of the resolution will be to bring out a big vote in the November election for Wilson and Marshall, and thus block Roosevelt and Taft.

SAVANNAH DETECTIVE SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS

Savannah, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—William R. Mitchell, for three years a member of the Savannah detective force, is missing from his home. Mrs. Mitchell, who is almost crazed through grief at the disappearance of her husband, has appealed to his fellow officers and to the public to try to find some trace of him.

"There is no reason in the world why Mr. Mitchell should have deserted," said Mrs. Mitchell today. "As a husband he was kindness itself, and he was always thoughtful of my comfort and that of the children. I cannot imagine what has become of him, unless he should have become suddenly deranged or has been killed. I know that he would never have remained away from me as he has done."

Mitchell was last seen at police headquarters Tuesday night. None of the officers have been able to find any clew as to his whereabouts since that time. They are loath to believe that he is the victim of foul play, but are unable to assign any reason for his disappearance.

BISCUIT COMPANY MAKES CHARGE OF SHORTAGE

Savannah, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—T. W. Presson, who, it is charged, is short in his accounts with the local agency of the National Biscuit company, returned to Savannah today with an officer from Chicago. A warrant was sworn out by W. J. Simpson, manager of the National Biscuit company, and Presson has been placed in jail.

He came here on the theory that he couldn't settle his alleged shortage with the biscuit company. Although a Chicago officer accompanied him to Savannah, Presson was not really under arrest. The local police refused to take a hand in the case and it was several hours before anybody could be found to arrest Presson and put him behind the bars.

Presson is from North Carolina, where he has a wife and two children.

BOND OF $1,500 WILL PROBABLY BE FORFEITED

Thomasville, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—M. V. Yates, the young man who was arrested at the instance of a Pinkerton detective, charged with robbing his brother and Harry Wyche of two diamond rings, was bound over by Judge Doss to appear before the superior court on a charge of larceny from the house. The bond fixed was $1,500, which was promptly made by the man who had been robbed, Mr. J. W. L. Yates. It is stated that Mr. Yates has left the city, and it is possible that the bond will be forfeited.

M. M. DOWLING SENT UP FOR TWO YEARS

Cedartown, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—M. M. Dowling, formerly agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway, at Rockmart, Ga., who about one year ago was charged with embezzling about $5,200 of the company's money, was tried in the Polk superior court of this county and plead guilty, begging the mercy of the court. The judge sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary. Dowling shortly after taking the money left Rockmart, and went to Mexico and escaped arrest, but after being away for some time came back and surrendered to the officers of this county.

TRAIN BANDIT MAY NOT LIVE TO FACE CHARGES

New Orleans, September 6.—Howard D. Edwards, who held up the New York express, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, Wednesday night, was charged today before United States Commissioner Browne with robbery of the mail.

Whether Edwards will live to face the charge or not, is doubtful. He still lies in a critical condition in a local hospital, suffering from the fracture of the skull that Engineer Baer inflicted when he captured him.

The belief of the police that Edwards is a dope fiend is considered to have been substantiated today when an analysis of the contents of capsules found on him showed the presence of opium.

CALLS FOR STATEMENT FROM NATIONAL BANKS

Washington, September 6.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks in the United States at the close of business on Wednesday, September 4.

GOES RIGHT OUT OF THE SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE INTO A $75 POSITION, WHILE OTHERS ENTER THE FALL TERM

Many New Arrivals at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, the School Noted for Its Thorough Course of Instruction.

It pays to attend a Business School of reputation—an institution that makes thoroughness of preparation its hobby.

That is just the reason so many young people from various parts of the country are now making their way to the Southern Shorthand and Business University, of this city, to master its practical courses in Shorthand, Bookkeeping, Banking, Typewriting, etc.

They have learned that the Southern teaches the best systems known to the world.

That it turns out the best qualified stenographers and bookkeepers in the shortest time possible.

That the business men give preference to its pupils when in need of high-grade office help.

Some of the Southern's pupils have accepted and held shorthand positions after one month's instruction, and quite a number after from two to three months' instruction, but, as is the case in all schools, such records are exceptions. The Southern prefers for its pupils to remain in school from three to six months and better qualify for better positions—that's why the business men prefer the Southern's pupils.

Last night Miss Ethel Whitworth, a most worthy and ambitious student, left the Southern to accept a position as stenographer and assistant bookkeeper with a large manufacturing concern in Florida, beginning on a salary of $75 per month. This position was secured for Miss Whitworth by the managers of the Southern, whose vigilance in locating their graduates knows no bounds. This fact is borne out by the evid nce that more stenographers are employed in Atlanta that attended the Southern, than the combined number from all other Business Schools in this city.

Two pupils recently entered the Southern, paying the regular rates, with free scholarships in other schools in their pockets.

The Southern employs six teachers.

It owns 75 modern typewriting machines.

PROF. N. V. JOHNSON,
The efficient Principal of the Bookkeeping Department of the Southern Shorthand and Business University.

It owns both the Burroughs and the Wahl adding machines.

Its owners have been conducting the school for 22 years.

If you are considering other Business Schools, better first visit and examine the Southern's facilities and make a comparison.

But, by all means, ask the advice of a large number of Atlanta's business men, then you'll attend the Southern.

PRESIDENT TALKS ABOUT DESERTERS

Draws Lesson From Benedict Arnold and Criticises Selfish Desire for Power.

New London, Conn., September 6.—From within the grass-grown ramparts of old Fort Griswold, on Croton Heights, President Taft this afternoon told the delegates to the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention that no individual should allow his own selfish interests or his personal ambition to lead him to climb into power over someone else. The president had been telling the story of the defense of Fort Griswold 131 years ago and of the courage of those farmers who had defended the walls against the British under Benedict Arnold, of whom he spoke.

Turning from the lessons of history, the president took up the matter of deeper waterways, a movement which he favored, especially the proposed system of inner canals along the seaboard. He said that the Ohio river project will be worth all the money it costs. Of the Panama canal he said he saw nothing which suggests delay in sending our battleships through it a year hence. Said the president:

"I signed the Panama canal bill, as you know. If you were to read some of the strictures on that act of mine you would think that the executive and congress went around looking for a chance to violate a treaty and then violated a treaty just for the fun of it."

President Taft arrived here at noon. He came ashore with Mrs. Taft and several members of his party who had come over from New York on the Mayflower. The president, with his ankle bound up, used a cane in walking from the boat landing to the automobile. A little later at a reception in the hotel, at which nearly a thousand persons shook his hand, the president was seated in order to favor his ankle. While he spoke at Fort Griswold he supported himself with his cane.

Shortly before 6 o'clock he sailed on the Mayflower for Beverly. The convention was practically brought to a close with the address of President Taft. A short evening session was held to wind up matters which were not disposed of.

WILL MORRIS RUN AS INDEPENDENT?

Reported That He May Enter Regular Election for Judgeship.

The possibility that Judge Newt Morris might run as an independent in the regular election for judge of the Blue Ridge circuit was discussed on yesterday. There is no other appeal he can take from the decision of the committee.

Another interesting aftermath of the state executive committee's action in throwing out Gilmer's vote in the judgeship race was the talk of the effect this action would have had on the court of appeals race and that of commissioner of agriculture had the decision come earlier.

There were some well-informed politicians who contended that if the vote for judge in Gilmer was vitiated the vote of the county should have been thrown out in the other races as well. If fraud was practiced, it vitiated the entire vote of the county, those who argue this way insist.

Had this been done Judge Nash R. Broyles, of Atlanta, would have been the nominee for the court of appeals judgeship instead of Judge J. R. Pottle, of Blakely; also J. J. Brown, of Bowman, would have been the nominee for commissioner of agriculture instead of J. D. Price, of Farmington. Broyles and Pottle tied in the race for judge, but if the two votes of Gilmer in the state convention had not been counted, Judge Broyles would have had 184 votes and Judge Pottle only 182. Judge Broyles withdrew from the contest.

The commissioner's race was carried to the floor of the convention because none of the three candidates had a majority. Mr. Price finally won, after A. O. Blalock, of Fayette, had withdrawn. Gilmer's two votes went for Price.

There is a dispute as to when Mr. Price will assume office, whether immediately following the general election or next June. He holds that he is entitled to go into office at once. J. J. Conner, the incumbent, says he has a right to the office until Mr. Price qualifies before the legislature next June. The attorney general will be called on for a decision upon this disputed point.

In the meantime Commissioner Conner is appointing oil and fertilizer inspectors to hold office for the next two years.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE OPENS HEADQUARTERS

The republican state campaign committee, with United States Marshal Walter Johnson at its head, has opened headquarters in rooms 37-8 Inman building, and has begun an active campaign.

George W. Beverly, well-known Atlantan, has been placed in direct charge of the clerical force of a half dozen stenographers and letter writers, while the offices have been supplied with telephones, attractive stationery and great quantities of literature. A revised registration list of each county and each congressional district in the state is now being prepared under the personal supervision of Henry S. Jackson, collector of internal revenue and national republican state committeeman.

"It is our intention," said Chairman Johnson, "to make a thorough, complete and systematic canvass of the state, and from now on we will use every honorable means to convince Georgians that their interests and those of the republican party are identical."

"And we especially request," said Collector Jackson, "that you ask all our friends, whether democrats or not to drop in and see how cleanly we are doing the work."

At the close of the session the convention adopted a resolution indorsing woman suffrage on the principle that "every suffragette means another customer for the baker."

Will Go to Rifle Practice.

Americus, Ga., August 6.—(Special.) The Americus Light Infantry will send a picked squad of riflemen to engage in range practice of the Second regiment, at Macon, next week. Captain James Fort, commanding the company, received transportation this afternoon for the team, and is now engaged in selecting the men who will represent his company.

BROKEN TRUCK CAUSES WRECK

No Additional Fatalities in the Southern Disaster — Hobo Had Remarkable Escape.

Macon, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) There will be no further fatalities as a result of the wreck of Southern passenger train No. 6, at Holton, Thursday afternoon. All of the injured, with the exception of Fireman James Burden, of Atlanta, left the hospital today, and he will be discharged within a few days.

The wreckage was cleared from the track at 2 o'clock this morning, and traffic was then resumed. The effects of the passengers which were in the wrecked car were brought into Macon today, and will be sorted out and restored to the owners.

Broken trucks of the tender of the engine are officially believed to have been the cause of the wreck.

An unknown tramp was riding the trucks of the combination car, which followed the engine and tender, and left the tracks, plunging down an embankment. The first passengers to alight saw him crawl from beneath the demolished car, apparently unhurt, coolly light a cigarette and disappear in an adjoining cotton patch.

By a curious coincident, there was another wreck on this same trestle six years ago, and it happened to the same train that was wrecked yesterday.

MACON POLICE MAKE RAID ON BIG GAMBLER'S HOUSE

Macon, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) The first raid made in several months on a gambling house frequented by white men occurred last night, when deputies from the sheriff's office swooped down on a room next to the Exchange hotel, on Fourth street, and arrested four men, two on the charge of running a gambling house and two for gaming.

There were thirteen men in the room at the time, but the remainder were not playing. Those charged with operating a gambling house are Bob Akridge and Henry Watts. The two charged with gaming are Bob Barfield and C. A. Pierce.

It is the general belief that Macon is freer of gambling houses now than she has ever been in her history. When Sheriff Hicks went into office he immediately announced that it was his intention to close up all of the gambling houses, and it is generally believed that he has succeeded so far as is possible.

NEGROES ARE ORDERED TO LEAVE LIVINGSTON

Nashville, Tenn., September 6.—Much excitement has been caused at Livingston by the dynamiting of the house of one negro Thursday night and a general order that negroes leave the town. The trouble grew out of an attempt made by Dillard Murphy, a negro, to assault a white girl. Murphy is in jail in Nashville for safe-keeping and residents of Livingston have advised his associates to leave town. Roxy Cullom, whose house was dynamited, is a negro woman who had frequently harbored Murphy before his crime.

Four Hundred Bales Received.

Eufaula, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—According to estimates made by the local warehousemen today fully 400 bales of cotton from this year's crop have already been received in Eufaula. Although milling here is quoted at 10¾ cents, the farmers and planters who do not need the money are holding in anticipation of better prices as soon as the "distressed" cotton is sold.

Riot Negroes Being Tried.

Rome, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Three of the ten negroes indicted on three counts each for assault with intent to murder in connection with the riots at Plainville, have been convicted by the Gordon county superior court at Calhoun this week and others are being tried today, with the evidence in all of the cases practically the same. A possible sentence of sixty years can be given all convicted on the three counts.

Tax Rate Is Raised.

Thomasville, Ga., September 6.—The county commissioners of Thomas county have fixed the tax rate for the current year at 7½ mills. This is three-quarters of a mill higher than last year and was done in order to pay for a traction engine and graders which have been purchased for use on the roads, to make improvements in the jail and poorhouse and to build a barn for the road equipment.

Police Court Fines Heavy.

Rome, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Figures compiled by Chief of Police Harris for the first five months of the present fiscal year show that police court fines have broken all records, the city having collected more than $5,000 in this way. Taken into consideration that the period for which the figures are representative was the dull season of the year, it is believed that the total fines for the year will be in the neighborhood of $15,000, or twice the amount estimated when the budget was made.

Get Their Booze Now.

Rome, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—When J. H. Hughes, a Rome man, was convicted late yesterday afternoon at Cedartown of burglarizing the Southern depot at Aragon, officers of the road and the sheriffs of two counties believed that they had the man who singled-handed had robbed twelve or more stations on the same branch within the past year. Hughes' loot was always whisky. Since his arrest about two months ago, consignees have been getting their packages regularly.

Drug Store Changes Hands.

Eastman, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—The Eastman drug store, which was put into bankruptcy a few weeks ago, was sold at auction a few days ago and was purchased by Dr. G. M. Parkerson and Hutson Goolsby, the price being paid was $2,510. Dr. Parkerson graduated from the University of Georgia in June, and while in college made a splendid showing, and was president of his class the past year. Mr. Goolsby has been connected with Edwards-Ramsey pharmacy for the past several years, and is a popular young man.

Electric Theater for Eastman.

Eastman, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—V. M. Williamson has opened up a first-class electric theater in the building formerly occupied by the W. T. Rawlins Grocery company.

Waycross Advertising.

Waycross, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Final proofs on copy for 30,000 handsomely illustrated booklets that will be distributed by the board of trade in its advertising campaign for Waycross and Ware have been read, and the new booklets will be ready for distribution by the first of October. Information of the resources and possibilities of Waycross and Ware has been placed in this booklet in a concise manner, and much good is anticipated from the use of this form of advertising.

School Capacity Exhausted.

Waycross, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—The registration books for the public schools will open September 9 and remain open until the schools resume work, September 1. It has already become evident that there are a number of children in Waycross who cannot attend the schools this year for lack of sufficient room. This need will get a remedy when a new school building is erected. This is proposed by the summer of next year.

Americus Stores Will Close Early.

Americus, Ga., August 6.—(Special.) Americus business houses very generally signed an agreement circulated this afternoon to close at 6 o'clock throughout the year, except during December shopping season and pay days of the railroads here. During the summer season all the stores closed at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and merchants are now anxious to make the movement perpetual, as it has many points in its favor, while the shopping done after that hour does not compensate for additional labor and expense entailed.

Good Work on Roads.

Waycross, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Ware county's convicts are getting in some good work on the roads about Waycross now and with good weather for a few days will make some very notable improvements. Foundation work for a fine system of roads has been finished in all sections of the county and from now on the labor will be used to perfect this system until Ware ranks with the leaders in roads and road improvements.

BIG LIME ROCK DEPOSIT FOUND NEAR MONTEZUMA

Lime rock, of almost pure lime, which D. F. Davenport, of Americus, Ga., says he can mine and grind into usable shape for [illegible] or $2 a ton, was exhibited in the state department of agriculture yesterday and created a vast amount of interest.

Specimens of the rock were submitted to Dr. S. W. McCallie, the state geologist, and Dr. R. E. Stallings, the state chemist, and both pronounced it almost pure lime. If a market can be found for the rock at $2 a ton, as Mr. Davenport claims, there is a fortune in it for the people who can mine it, said Mr. McCallie. The rock was found along the Flint river between Montezuma and Albany.

"It is a formation that belongs to the Ecocene series of rock of south Georgia," said Dr. McCallie. "It forms a wide belt extending from the southeastern part of Decatur county, through Mitchell, Miller, Baker, Calhoun, Dougherty, Lee, Sumter, Schley, Pulaski and Laurens counties. If a market can be found for the rock at $2 a ton it means a fortune for many people in that section of the state."

Dr. McCallie then spoke of the Horine Development company, which is operating in Walker county one of the largest plants in the United States crushing limestone rock for agricultural purposes.

YOUNG MISS IS ADEPT BURGLAR

Newburgh, N. Y., September 6.—Miss Marjorie Leckitt, 15 years old, is under arrest here today, charged with burglary. The police say she has confessed to breaking into several houses. On one of her escapades she is alleged to have entered a fashionable boarding house by removing a pane of glass from a window and to have stolen several hundred dollars worth of garments. In another instance, it is said she hid for several hours behind a bureau in a house where the police were searching for her and which she had entered by cutting away a wooden shutter with a keyhole saw.

6,000 HATS ARE STOLEN BY BROADWAY BURGLARS

New York, September 6.—According to a police announcement today burglars entered a hat store on lower Broadway some time between Saturday and Tuesday and stole 6,000 imported Austrian velour hats, valued at $30,000. A reward of $500 is offered for the capture of the thieves.

Selig-Mayer.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Selig announce the marriage of their daughter, Elsie May, to Mr. Alvin Mayer, of Louisville, Ky., which took place Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer went to New York by way of Savannah.

Opening of the Atlanta.

The opening of the theatrical season of 1912-13 at the Atlanta theater last night rivaled in social brilliance the opening of last fall, which was also the inauguration of the pretty theater.

A musical comedy last night was appropriate to the weather, and a typical "first-night" audience was present, everybody knowing everybody else, and an intimate spirit characterizing the occasion, which made it more like a social than a theatrical event.

The married people and the unmarried, including a charming representation of the "near debutantes," filled boxes and parquet.

Porch Party.

Mrs. George Breitenbucher gave a pretty card party yesterday afternoon in compliment to Miss Dorothy Breitenbucher, a bride-elect.

There were sixteen guests, and the game was played on the porch, which was picturesque with ferns and Killarney roses. The prizes were cut-glass dishes.

Hostess and guest of honor were becomingly gowned in white voile.

Musicale at Piedmont Driving Club.

A dinner and musicale was the bright event of the Driving club Thursday evening. A party of sixteen had dinner on the end of the porch, and a program of music followed. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Knepp, Miss Ruth Stallings, Miss Grace McDonald, Miss Isabel Kuhrt, Miss Leone Ladson, Miss Mary Carl Hurst, Mr. Dozier Lowndes, Mr. Clarence Knowles, Mr. Lynn Werner, Mr. Lewis Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Childs.

During dinner the guests each went to the piano and played or sang, and, as the guests were one and all talented, the entertainment had its note of brilliancy as well as pleasure. Mrs. Knepp sang delightfully; Miss Hurst played, and there was chorus singing, which gave everybody a chance.

There were many informal parties dining on the club porch. The regular table d'hote dinner will assemble many at the club tonight, and there will be the usual informal supper parties tomorrow night.

To Bride-Elect.

In compliment to Miss Dorothy Breitenbucher the Misses Silvey will entertain next Wednesday afternoon, and Mrs. Frank Massenburg will give a bridge party Friday.

Miss Jarnagin Entertains.

Miss Erskine Jarnagin entertained informally yesterday morning for her guests, Misses Caroline and Sue Northrop, of Wilmington, N. C. Invited to meet the honor guests were Misses Eugenia Hardeman of Wilmington, Alice Muse, Marian Stearns, Alice Stearns, Charlotte Meador, Frances Broyles, Harriet McCullough, Eleanor McGinty and Madelyn McCullough.

To Mrs. Coleman.

Mrs. Frank Gilreath entertained at bridge tea yesterday afternoon, the occasion a delightful one in compliment to Mrs. V. E. Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., the guest of Mrs. Joseph Baldwin.

Pink and white roses decorated the reception rooms and formed the centerpiece for a daintily appointed tea table.

Mrs. Gilreath was gowned in blue chiffon, and she was assisted in entertaining by Miss Annie Mae Gilreath and Miss Bessie Hollowell, who served punch.

Dinner Dance at Brookhaven.

The first dinner dance of the season at the Brookhaven club Thursday evening was a marked success. Many of the guests came out earlier in the evening and enjoyed a swim in the lake; others came after long auto rides, and it was an attractive gathering which sat down to dinner at 8 o'clock. The dinner was served on the terrace, and was a delicious repast, including iced fruit, fried chicken, cream gravy, stuffed potatoes, French peas, tomatoes en surprise, Neapolitan ice cream, cake, coffee, cheese.

The orchestra played the best dance music, and after dinner the dance was enjoyed on the excellent ballroom floor which the club boasts.

Among the visitors were Miss Mildred Fortson, of Washington, the guest of Miss Eula Jackson, and Miss Elizabeth Harris, of Cedartown, who was a guest of the party entertained by Mrs. E. G. McCabe. Miss Fortson wore a blue silk gown draped in net and finished with a touch of American Beauty rose. Her leghorn hat was trimmed in roses. Miss Elizabeth Harris wore a white lingerie gown, her bonnet of lace over pink, and trimmed in pink crush roses.

Miss Lula Dean Jones wore a white embroidered mull gown with Charlotte Corday bonnet of lace and blue, given Frenchy finish in pink roses. Miss Jackson wore blue chiffon silk and lace, her blue straw hat trimmed in flowers.

Miss Alice May Freeman wore with a white embroidery and mull gown a lace hat trimmed in the Dresden colors. Miss Amorous wore a pink lisse gown trimmed in lace, with hat to match. Miss Meador wore a white embroidered voile gown. Miss Fielder wore with a white gown with black and white straw hat trimmed in coral color. There will be another informal supper party at Brookhaven tonight and tomorrow night.

To Mrs. Shepard.

Mrs. Arthur Hammond entertained the twelve members of her card club at an informal bridge party yesterday morning at her home in Ansley Park, inviting them to meet Mrs. David Shepard, a recent bride.

Ferns and garden flowers decorated the house, and the prizes were a jardiniere and silk stockings. Mrs. Shepard was presented gold collar pins.

To Miss Johnston.

Mrs. P. B. Flury entertained very delightfully Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Edna Johnston, whose marriage to Mr. Henry H. Jones will take place next Monday.

Miss Willie Jette's linen shower on Tuesday afternoon was a pretty compliment to Miss Edna Johnston, a bride-elect. Punch was served in the living room by Mrs. Palmer. A delightful salad course was served, after which the bride-elect was showered. Many friends enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess.

DOUGLAS-M'DANIEL.

Norcross, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Mary Clyde Douglas and Mr. John D. McDaniel took place Thursday morning at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Douglas, on the Peachtree road, near Norcross.

The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, rendered by Miss Ruth Espey, of Buford, and before an improvised altar, and under a canopy of golden rod and ferns, the ceremony was said. Rev. A. C. Cantrell was the officiating clergyman. During the ceremony Miss Espey played softly "Hearts and Flowers."

Among the guests were Mrs. W. H. Hanserd of Dallas, Miss Cora Mosely of Atlanta, and Miss Neronia Rogers of Norcross.

Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel left immediately after the ceremony for the coast resorts of Florida, and on their return will be at home in Duluth, Ga.

CITY NEWS

Internal Revenue Changes.—Changes made in the internal revenue department for Georgia were announced yesterday by Henry S. Jackson, collector for the Georgia district. W. E. Crockett, division department collector, with headquarters at Rome for several years past, leaves the service on account of reduction in the force within the district, and the work of his divisional department has been divided between Deputy Collectors O. N. Felix, at Marietta, and R. O. Hopkins, at Jasper. Division Deputy Collector A. W. Wimberly, of Augusta, with headquarters in that city, has been succeeded by Theo Basch, long time connected with the Atlanta office.

Federal Court to Open.—The fall term of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia, with Judge William T. Newman presiding, will open the first Monday in October. Between now and that date a new grand jury and the usual complement of traverse jurors will be drawn. The docket will be an unusually large one, but no cases of particular importance have been listed.

Boland Duncan in Atlanta.—Boland Duncan, well-known Atlantan, and for years connected with The Constitution, but now elevator inspector for one of the largest casualty and accident insurance companies in the country, was yesterday instructed by wire from headquarters to go at once to Jacksonville, Fla., to inspect eighteen elevators in the Cohen department stores building, a ten-story structure. "The building covers an entire block," said Mr. Duncan, "and is one of the finest structures in the entire south. It is equipped with eighteen elevators. The building will be formally opened on October 1."

Undergoes Operation.—Baker Stevens, who represents the H. J. Heinz company in this city, has undergone an operation at Davis & Fisher's sanitarium. He is improving rapidly, but will not be out for some days.

The Bible in the School.—As September 8 has been fixed by the National Reform association for universal prayer for public schools, Dr. Holderby, of Moore Memorial church, will preach a special sermon on "The Bible in the Public School," Sunday at 11 a. m. Moral and religious training in the schools will be fully discussed. The public and especially members of the Junior Order of American Mechanics are cordially invited to attend the service.

Mrs. Pearson to Sing.—Mrs. Frank M. Pearson has returned from Wrightsville and will sing Sunday morning an devening in the Second Baptist church. Dr. John E. White, the pastor, who has also been away for a month, will preach Sunday morning on "The Democracy of Christianity." In the evening he will preach a special sermon to young men on "Wasted Love."

Bible Class Meets.—The Bible lecture classe of the First Methodist Sunday school meets Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock in the main auditorium of the church, at the junction of Peachtree and Ivy streets. Visitors and strangers will be especially welcomed.

Armenian Divine Will Preach.—Owing to the fact that Dr. Ridley will not return to the city until the latter part of next week, the pulpit will be occupied at both services by Rev. K. H. Basmajian, one of the most noted lecturers and singers in the Baptist denomination. Dr. Basmajian spoke and sang at the Central some weeks ago, and his messages were so wonderfully inspiring that he has been invited to preach again. His subject at the morning service will be, 'A Great Sight," and at night, "The Crescent Against the Cross" or "Mohammedanism Against Christianity."

McConnell Will Lecture.—Lincoln McConnell will deliver his new popular lecture-sermon Sunday night at the Baptist Tabernacle. Subject, "Take a Seat in the Grand Stand" or "Seeing the Game Through a Knot Hole." This lecture-sermon is one of Dr. McConnell's strongest lectures.

JUDGE R. L. GAMBLE DIES SUDDENLY

Georgia Jurist Passes Away at Asheville Following Apoplectic Stroke.

Asheville, N. C., September 6.—Judge Rogers L. Gamble, of the superior court, Louisville, Ga., died at a local hotel here tonight following an apoplectic stroke at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The deceased, who was 61 years old, is survived by his wife and three children, Rogers L. Gamble, Jr., of Jacksonville Fla.; Mrs. John G. Comer, of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. Dodin Guerard, of Savannah, Ga. The body will be shipped to Louisville, Ga., for burial tomorrow morning.

Judge Gamble arrived in this city with his wife yesterday afternoon in apparently good health. He took a mountain drive this morning, and after luncheon this afternoon went to his room for a short rest. He was stricken while lying down, and remained unconscious until his death tonight at 9 o'clock.

RELIEF RUSHED TO AMERICANS

Detachment of Troops Sent to Nacorazi by the Mexican Government.

Mexico City, September 6.—Governor Maytorena, of Sonora, has advised the government here that he has ordered a detachment of troops to the relief of Nacorazi, where the lives of a number of Americans have been endangered by attacks from rebel bands.

Walter Douglas, president of the Nacorazi Mining company, telegraphed Governor Maytorena advising him that if the Mexican government was unable to afford relief to the Americans at Nacorazi, his company would take such steps as they might see fit to protect the lives of the Americans there.

The minister of the interior today made public Governor Maytorena's reply to Mr. Douglas, in which the governor said he had "ordered with all haste required by the circumstances a relief column to leave Cumpas, which is the place nearest to Nacorazi, and proceed by forced marches, and shall endeavor to have forces go from other points."

The governor declared the fact that the little garrison at Nacorazi had been able to hold out thirty hours is proof that it can continue to do so until relief arrives, and that if the defenders are short of ammunition "it is logical to assume that the attackers likewise are short."

VERMONT TO HAVE G. O. P. GOVERNOR

Sufficient Republicans in New Legislature to Elect Allen M. Fletcher.

Montpelier, Vt., September 6.—With thirty-nine small towns still to decide representatives in the legislature, or unrecorded in the vote cast on Tuesday or Wednesday, the 207 that had been reported up to noon today, together with the number of senators elected, showed a republican majority of eleven in the new legislature, or sufficient to elect Allen M. Fletcher, the party candidate for governor, on the first ballot.

Returns from the 207 cities and towns divide the legislature as follows:

Senate, 25 republicans, 3 democrats and 2 progressives; house, 125 republicans, 53 democrats and 29 progressives.

PROMINENT PREACHER HELD FOR FRAUD

Brandenberg, Ky., September 6.—Deputy Sheriff S. L. Morgan is expected here today with the Rev. John B. Norris, president of the Louisiana State Baptist college at Jackson, La., and former pastor of the Baptist church in this city, who is wanted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He is alleged to have given as surety for a $250 loan a mortgage on a library described in a note, but which, it is said, he never owned.

Ship Money Only by Day.

New Orleans, September 6.—Since the robbery on the Northeastern railroad near Hattiesburg, Miss., a few months ago, when the bandits secured more than $100,000 from mail and express packages, the Southern Express company, according to the announcement of its agent here, has ceased to make shipments of money out of here at night. Shipments of money, both northward and southward, are being carried, it is said, only on the day trains.

DEMOCRATS PLAN GREAT PARADES

Business Men Will March in Every Large City at the Same Time.

New York, September 6.—Plans for a national Wilson and Marshall business men's parade on the same day and hour in every large city from the Atlantic to the Pacific were made today at democratic national headquarters. A delegation of business men of this city met Acting Chairman McAdoo and organized a Wilson and Marshall national business men's league. Headquarters will be opened at once at 200 Fifth avenue. Telegrams have been sent to democratic committeemen and merchants in all states and efforts will be made to obtain a large enrollment of prominent merchants and business men. Then a day will be set for the simultaneous parades.

Mr. McAdoo announced today that the plan for gathering popular contributions to the campaign fund through the banks has been a success. He said 1,818 banks have notified him that they will accept contributions for all parties, and only ten banks have refused. The acting chairman gave out a table showing that Illinois led with 164 banks, and Iowa came next with 134 acceptances. Some of the other states were:

Oklahoma, 58; Texas, 80; Virginia, 71; Kansas, 68; Missouri, 86, and New York, 64.

TEDDY ELECTORS GIVEN DECISION

Judge Refuses to Grant Injunction Removing Their Names From Kansas Ballot.

Topeka, Kan., September 6.—The Roosevelt presidential electors won another round in the legal battle to get them off the republican ticket in Kansas today.

Judge W. H. Sanborn, of the United States circuit court of appeals, denied the injunction asked by the supporters of President Taft's candidacy to prohibit the names of the eight Roosevelt electors being placed on the republican ballot in the general election in November. The case was argued Monday in Denver, and the written decision of Judge Sanborn was received by Morton Albaugh, clerk of the United States circuit court, here late today.

Judge Sanborn, in his opinion, said the application for the injunction could not be granted because under a decision of the supreme court the threatened wrongful deprivation of a citizen of his rights to vote under the constitution of the United tates, by election officials or others, presents no cause of action in equity for an injunction to prevent it. The remedy is at law and not by an injunction in equity. The case will be appealed.

CHAMP CLARK LEADERS IN FIGHT FOR WILSON

Chicago, September 6.—Fred T. Dubois, who managed Speaker Champ Clark's preconvention, today declared that all of the Clark leaders would be in the fight for Governor Wilson.

"I have addressed letters to all of the men who were active for Speaker Clark before the convention and have asked them to tell me their attitude in the present fight. I have not found one who is not loyal to our ticket."

AKIN SUFFOCATED BY ESCAPING GAS

Rescued by Workmen From Dying in a Deep Ditch.

Almost suffocated by escaping gas, F. E. Akin, an employee of the Atlanta Gas Light company, was found by workmen late yesterday afternoon lying prostrate in a ditch at Richardson and Cooper streets, through which a gas line was being run. Akin had knocked the cap off a gas main while working in the ditch and was overcome by the poisonous fumes before he could climb to safety.

He was rushed to Grady hospital, and did not regain consciousness until late last night. He is about 40 years old and has a wife and family. Although his condition is precarious, physicians at the hospital say his chances for recovery are good. He resides at 649 Ashby street.

The pipe was repaired before further damage was done.

MRS. SAM P. JONES NOT INTERESTED IN POLITICS

The Mrs. Sam Jones who was present at the bull moose meeting Thursday night in the Piedmont was not Mrs. Jones, of Cartersville, who is widely known throughout the state for her prominent connection with various missionary societies and the Women's Christian Temperance union. Mrs. Jones has sent The Constitution the following statement:

"This article creates the impression that I am going to take a political stand, and does me an injustice, and I would like to have it corrected. I am not in politics, except when the Woman's Christian Temperance union comes in contact therewith, nor shall I ever be. I have no interest in whoever wins the presidency, so far as I am personally concerned, and I am very sure that I shall join no active movement looking to the success of any man's political fortunes."

GOES TO POLICE STATION TO GET SHORT VACATION

Andrew Dasksas, a 19-year-old Greek waiter, was sent to Grady hospital last night by Hellenic friends under the impression that he was sick, but the doctors at the hospital after thorough examination diagnosed his case as "hunger" and he was sent to police headquarters. At the station house he was offered a square meal, but declined, saying that he was not hungry at all.

When asked what he wanted he was unable to make himself understood until the sergeant called in Jimmie Pannannapoolos from his delicatessen stand, near the headquarters. It then became evident that what Andrew craved more than all else at present was a vacation. Pannannapoolos interpreted that Andrew wanted to get away indefinitely from the oppressing odor of liver and onions, and the clangor of alleged silverware and dining room crockery, and that he could not afford to spend that period of recuperation in any resort other than the station house.

So Andrew was placed in a cell right by the window.

RUDOLPH OETTER DEFIES COURTS

Charged With Kidnaping, He Refuses to Tell Whereabouts of Son.

In open defiance of the police and courts, and declaring that "he did not see how it was possible for a father to kidnap his own child," Rudolph Oetter, accused of abducting his 2-year-old son, arrested in Macon, was brought to the Tower yesterday afternoon.

Lawyer William M. Smith, attorney for Mrs. Oetter, and who represented her in the legal fight for possession of the child, stated last night that the child had been found in Griffin, Ga., and would be returned to Atlanta some time today. He says it has been in charge of Oetter's relatives.

Oetter would not reveal the hiding place of the child. "It is in good hands," was all he would say. Last night, however, according to Mr. Smith, communication was received from Griffin, stating that the boy had been discovered, and was then being held by authorities of that place.

Oetter, who has been deprived of the child by divorce courts, recently visited his wife's home at 9 Nesbit street. The boy was spirited away, according to Mrs. Oetter, and immediately hurried out of the city. She personally directed a search for the father and missing youngster, and Wednesday afternoon learned that Oetter had gone to Macon. With County Officer Jackson, she hurried to that city and succeeded in locating her husband. The child was not with him, and he would not divulge its whereabouts.

Legal proceedings based upon the warrant for kidnaping will be taken against Oetter at once.

MOOSE MANAGER HELD AS "TIGER"

F. O. Sappington Declares Arrest Was Inspired by Malice.

F. O. Sappington, 52 years old, manager of the Moose club, 11½ East Alabama street, was arrested last midnight by Detectives Shaw and Vickery on a charge of keeping on hands liquor for illicit sales. He was released on $500 bonds.

The detectives made the charge on the ground that they have a witness who will testify to a sale of the liquor. Sappington, however, alleges that the witness is a recently discharged employee, and that it is a scheme of revenge on his part.

Sappington gave 11½ East Alabama street as his residence address also.

JOHNSON, THE HANGMAN, ACQUITTED OF LARCENY

Gulfport, Miss., September 6.—Frank Johnson, known as "Johnson, the Hangman," who claims the record of having hanged more men than any other follower of his occupation in the United States, was acquitted yesterday on his second trial of the charge of larceny. Johnson lost much of his grewsome work when executions in Louisiana were centered at Baton Rouge, the capital. His story is that he has hanged forty-three men.

"THE BALKAN PRINCESS" OPENS THEATER SEASON AT ATLANTA

"The Balkan Princess" all but filled the Atlanta theater last night. In fact, with the exceptions of "The Sign of the Rose," which opened the theater last season, and Anna Held's "Miss Innocence," which came some weeks later, last night's audience holds the record. And such an audience it was, to be sure! From the moment the curtain went up for the prologue to the time it descended on the last scene, there was unbounded enthusiasm. Gale after gale of merriment and ripple upon ripple of applause punctuated the performance. Tired and heat-ridden Atlanta was just in the mood for an evening of light amusement, and right royally did she respond to the challenge of the performers to give way to mirth.

In last night's keen enjoyment of "The Balkan Princess," a time-honored Atlanta tradition was dispelled. Time was when the first theatrical performance of the season and the first killing frost were dangerously near to being one and the same thing. Seasoned theater-goers, as a natural result, fought rather shy of opening performances, and were content to wait until the season had gotten well into its stride. Last night's audience contained all the regular attendants one sees night after night during the winter season; and these rather exacting ones were among the most demonstrative.

"The Balkan Princess" is an altogether pleasing musical play. There is nothing strikingly original in theme or music, but it is well-rounded and tuneful to a rare degree. By comparison with some productions of a like character which came to Atlanta last season preceded by an overplus of press agent praise, it stands out vividly. Several of the musical numbers have a haunting strain in them strikingly reminiscent of "The Merry Widow," and these will be hummed and whistled for some weeks to come. The company is by no means a star cast, but it is evenly balanced, and several members are accomplished actors.

The plot? But why waste words on the plot? It is the usual slender thread upon which to hang a prince, a princess, a brace of comedians and the usual assortment of chorus girls and men. The chorus contained some pretty girls. Yes, madame, I said—some!

Julia Gifford, in the role of Princess Stephanie, achieved a personal triumph. She has an exquisite voice of high range, and sang with sweetness and warmth of feeling. As encores she sang "Coming Thro' the Rye" and "Swannee River" in a fashion which completely captivated her audience.

M. E. Dano, in the dashing role of Sergius, did some effective acting. His voice, however, was hoarse, and it would not be just to speak of his singing as an example of the things of which he is capable.

Wallace Berry, as the bogus Duke Boris, was extremely humorous without at any time indulging in buffonery. Harry Lewellyn, as the cafe waiter, was equally effective in comedy.

And now just a word or two anent a subject which has nothing in particular to do with the stage. The state of Georgia is appropriating a large sum of money annually toward maintaining the Technological school, the supposition being that the young men who attend that institution are doing so with some serious purpose in view. It was never contemplated that they should come to Atlanta and interfere with the rights and personal pleasures of her citizens. The gallery of the Atlanta was last night packed with Tech students, who at times seriously interfered with the performance, and succeeded in embarrassing the players by their boisterous behavior. In vain were they requested to keep quiet. Sooner or later it will become necessary to resort to more heroic measures if these young gentlemen do not have more regard for the rights of others.

There will be a matinee, and the concluding performance of "The Balkan Princess" tonight.

SIDNEY ORMOND.

"The White Slave."

(At the Lyric.)

Having been retired from any stage for about eight years, "The White Slave" has been revived by Robert Campbell, a son of the famous author, Bartley Campbell. "The White Slave" is the most successful drama written by that famous dramatist, and for twenty-one consecutive years following the original production of the play at the old Fourteenth street theater, New York, it was toured over the United States and Canada. "The White Slave" will be presented at the Lyric theater for one week, commencing Monday, September 9, this being one of the feature attractions at the Lyric this season.

Popular Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Popular vaudeville at the busy Forsyth continues to register hits that means the success of the policy. There has never been anything theatrical in Atlanta that has been quite so quickly indorsed. During the extreme hot weather of the week attendance was startling, and even matinee attendance has been above the limit. The acts have all scored well, and the reception of George Wilson, the veteran minstrel, has been something of an ovation. For next week five new Keith acts will be presented. A feature will be the appearance of Roberts, Hayes and Roberts, a trio of excellent singers and dancers in a comedy sketch of quality. Another feature will be the Three Dolce Sisters, pretty girls in a dainty singing novelty, and still another card will be the appearance of Borano and Navarro, a man and woman who are wonderfully funny and clever acrobatic artists.

J. E. M'CLELLAND ANSWERS STATEMENT OF JOEL HURT

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 6, 1912.

I note in The Atlanta Constitution of yesterday morning, Friday, September 6, statements made by Mr. Joel Hurt, with reference to myself concerning my attitude on the proposed work on Ivy street.

Mr. Hurt declares, if correctly quoted by the paper, "That it was my own guilty conscience that prompted me to bring the charges of political high-handedness on the part of other members." He is further quoted as stating that my statements were "fraudulent and untrue." So far as the personality of this is concerned, within ten minutes after I read the article in The Constitution, I called Mr. Hurt over the phone and told him that his statements were untrue and that he knew that he was a common, ordinary liar, and for which I now have, and never will have any apology to offer, on the ground that he made statements recklessly and wantonly. I much regret that Mr. Hurt should have seen fit at this time, with his old-time boldness, to come out and again burden Atlanta with his infamy.

Especially is it true that to go into a controversy with Mr. Hurt, it will become necessary to recount "his fingering in politics." In the old days it was so common to him to buy, barter with and bluff politicians that he then thought he owned Atlanta. The people awakened and realized the infamy that had been practiced upon the public, and public opinion kicked him out of the running; he, however, demanded his pound of flesh from Atlanta, and got it, by owning and controlling the political situation. With wisdom he has pursued silence and kept from the public gaze since then, but with his brazen effrontery he now comes out in other quarters and seeks to bulldoze those that he has not bought and demands that Atlanta be turned over to him for his own personal gain. It never entered his mind to help Ivy street property owners. The project was that the county should be turned over to him to do any work that he saw fit to have done and I say with regret that it is a known fact that by reason of Mr. Hurt's personal relations with certain county officials, that the county's convicts are at his services. He can get them on a day's notice. Georgia avenue, Marietta street, and any other street that is used for the common public has to bide their time with patience until private personal interests are served by such men as Mr. Hurt.

At a meeting of the street committee, Mr. Hurt declared that any man who voted against his proposition would never come back to council; that he would buy a paper, run it and publish it to prevent the man who had dared to go against his wishes, and openly shook his finger in the face of a member of council and said, "I put you on notice that because you are voting against Ivy street you will never have another political office." I want it understood that I am not the one that he treated thusly, for, for such audacity I should have then and there slapped his face.

Of course, Mr. Hurt may now buy the papers and by reason of the fact that he holds himself so far above the common people, he may say that what I have said does not demand or warrant any reply from him because of the fact that I am so far beneath him, and in advance I will say that I have not become encumbered with money that came illegitimately from the people of Atlanta, but with a consciousness of my own rectitude I even have the audacity to defy Mr. Hurt.

I am leaving the city with my boy, who is desperately ill, but I shall give no excuse of any kind or character for attending to Mr. Hurt on all occasions. My address is Borden Wheeler, Ala., and I shall return to Atlanta at any minute that Mr. Hurt desires a discussion of this matter in any way. I am out of the mayor's race; I have no political ambition, but have got the courage to say what I think of and believe of the politicians of Atlanta and if the health of my boy permits, I shall publicly state the facts to the people. I shall tell them why Mr. Hurt is so exercised even though he has got Mr. Chambers in his political camp, and even though he has bought by promises or otherwise what he thinks is a sufficient number to carry out his personal projects. I put him on notice that they won't stay bought, because the constituents are going to force their representatives to do what is right, and nobody will have ever accused Mr. Hurt with any kinship to progress or Atlanta's interest unless he is benefited two to one himself.

Whiffs

No Excuse.

ALTHOUGH the season is about over, and it makes no difference whether the Crackers win a game or not, as they seem doomed to finish in the cellar, there is absolutely no excuse for them playing bad baseball. The fans pay their good money to see the games, and they want a real game of baseball, not a farce. Some of the Memphis games and the first Nashville game could be placed in the latter class. It behooves the local players to play out their string until the end. They are getting paid for playing baseball, and not for putting on a one-ring circus.

Help.

IF JOE AGLER keeps up the batting clip that he is now on, the Crackers will, indeed, be fortunate if they get him back next season. Joe has been steadily but surely climbing right on up the batting ladder. He got off to a mighty bad start, but since that time he has been pulling a bunch of hits across, until Bill McGilvray, the batting leader of the Southern league, is the only first baseman in the league who is hitting more than he is. Agler deserves a world of credit for his grand work on the field and at the bat, and, even with the team in the dumps and playing ragged ball, he is always in there hustling, and the fans get their money's worth watching him play the game.

Good Debut.

ROY MORAN has been doing mighty nice work since he broke in with the Washington club. He did not get a hit on his debut day against Philadelphia, but he has secured one in each of the Boston games. But on his debut day Roy starred in the field, as usual, and on the paths. He forced Gandil at the plate on a tap to second base in one inning, but promptly stole second, went to third on Thomas' bad throw, and when McBride walked, worked the double steal with him for a tally.

Would Be Useful.

THE CRACKERS will have a mighty useful outfield next season, if things pan out as expected. Bailey and Callahan have recovered their batting eyes, and are now hitting better than any outfielders in the league—that is, for the last month, though their season average is not so high. With Sisson coming from Columbus, Weiser from Charlotte, one or two other youngsters and the possibility of Moran being secured from Washington, the outfield battling is going to be strong, and when the men are finally weeded down, the Crackers will have the fastest fielding, swiftest trio of base-runners and best hitting bunch there is in the league.

Wonderful Showing.

RED MUNSON, whom Atlanta fans will remember as the huge backstop who was here last season with the Nashville Volunteers, tried his hand at the managerial end of the game for the first time this season. He took hold of the Bristol team of the Appalachian league, and the first year out as a manager won the pennant. That is certainly a grand record for any man. Red deserves the congratulations of Southern league fans.

False Pride.

ENGLAND lost the amateur golf championship of the United States this year, due to false pride on the part of her two representatives, Harold Hilton and Norman Hunter. They persisted in playing in a Norfolk jacket, because it was the style to play in them in England, despite the fact that the thermomiter has been hovering around the one-hundred mark during the tournament. Both were affected by the heat, but rather than stick their pride in the pockets of their jackets, and then shedding the jackets, they played their rounds, Hilton being put out by a practically unknown youngster, while Hunter was forced to default because of a sunstroke. Chick Evans horrified the golfing fraternity of England last year when he played in the tournaments without his coat. They are talking about it over there yet. It was nothing in the world but sensible yankee strategy.

Another Angle.

LOOK AT the proposition from another angle. Isn't it reasonable to suppose that a man in shirt-waist, with sleeves rolled up above his elbows, will have more freedom in his swings than a man with the sleeves of his shirt and the sleeves of his Norfolk jacket on his arm? Certainly. Any sane, sensible person can see the logic in such reasoning. Two Norfolk jackets cost the Britons a golf title. Maybe Norfolk jackets will now go out of style.

Chick's Style.

CHICK EVANS' style of play as one of the most unusual features of the tournament is the comment of some of the golf experts. He places his thumb down the shaft of his driver. He plays right-handed, and consequently, as the thumb of the lower hand runs down the shaft as he addresses the ball, he looks as if he were gripping an iron club.

May Draw Release.

G. HARRIS WHITE, the veteran pitcher of the White Sox, better known as "Doc," will soon draw his unconditional release, according to reports from Chicago. It is said that White has a chance to manage the Sacramento club, of the Pacific Coast league, and Callahan is willing to let him go.

Pretty Pitchers' Battle; Fleharty Gets Close Call In Duel With Big Waldorf

By Dick Jemison.

Earl Fleharty and Rudolph Waldorf, the big right-handers of the Nashville and Atlanta clubs, tied up in as pretty a pitchers' battle as one would care to see on Friday, the Vols' hurler being returned victorious, 1 to 0.

Fleharty was hit harder than Waldorf, but the Vol hurler usually tightened up when there were men on bases threatening to score, and was backed up by some good fielding on the part of his teammates.

No really sensational plays marked the game, though there were many bright pieces of fielding on both sides.

This is the second time that the Vols have defeated Waldorf and by exactly the same score and under the same conditions. In Nashville, recently, with Fleharty pitching against him, the Vols scored one run off his delivery in the opening stanza and that was the only tally of the game.

Atlanta had two or three good chances to score during the pastime, but their chances were nilled either by some bad pieces of base running or the lack of a pinch hit at the right time.

The lone tally of the game was made as follows: Daley led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Lattimore, went to third on Welchonce's out and counted when Perry slashed a single to left field.

Giants Win Two.

Philadelphia, September 6.—New York again won both games of a double-header here today, giving them five victories out of six contests in three days in this city. New York won the opener by hitting Rixey's delivery hard in the third and fourth innings. Tesreau pitched in grand style and after the game was given credit by the official scorer for a no-hit victory, although previously one hit had been recorded against him. The disputed play came in the first inning. Paskert hit a fly near the plate for which Merkle and Wilson ran. Each fielder got under the ball. Then fearing a collision they permitted the ball to drop to the ground. After the game the official scorer reversed his decision on the play and decided to cross out the hit for Paskert and give Merkle an error as the latter said he had touched the ball when he saw that Wilson would not run into him. The second game was hard fought, each team using three pitchers. New York won in the ninth on an error, two singles and a sacrifice.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Red Sox 1, Nationals 0.

Boston, September 6.—Joe Wood beat Walter Johnson today, winning his fifteenth straight victory in a spectacular pitchers' battle, which Johnson sought in the hope of protecting his American league record of sixteen consecutive wins. The score was: Boston 1, Washington 0.

The lone tally came in the sixth inning, with two out. Speaker hit into the crowd in left field for two bases. Lewis, next up, knocked into right field for a double, a hard fly, which Moeller was barely able to touch, Speaker scoring.

Washington had more opportunities to score than Boston, but Wood was at the top of his game in the pinches, striking out nine men. Johnson fanned five, three of these being consecutive outs in the fifth. The Nationals filled the bases, two men being passed in the third, and Wood fanned Moeller for the third out. Washington had runners on second in the sixth, eighth and ninth, but they could get no further, Wood fanning men for the last out on two of these occasions.

The New Yorks made only two runs on fourteen hits and six passes, and an error by Collins let in one of these runs. The visitors won in the ninth, when Baker singled and McInnes attempted to sacrifice. Chase threw wild to second to force Baker and when Lellvelt let the throw go through him, Baker scored and McInnes reached third. Barry scored McInnes on the squeeze play.

Scouts Even Up Post-Series With Columbus Club

Jacksonville, Fla., September 6.—For seven innings this afternoon Karl Horten held Columbus hitless and runless and the game, which was called back to the seventh on account of rain, went to the locals, 4 to 0. Horten was in superb form, and during the seven innings only twenty-one men faced him. Two reached first base. One was forced out at second on a fielder's choice, and the other died stealing. Horten's control was perfect, not a man walking.

In the seventh the locals got to Jones for three hits, and these, with two errors sandwiched in and a base on balls, gave Jacksonville four runs and the game. Columbus took her eighth, but the rain then came in torrents and the game reverted back to the seventh inning. A large crowd, among whom was President Corish, of the league, witnessed the game, and this in spite of the threatening clouds which overhung the city all day. Manager Wilder will most likely work for the locals against Morrow tomorrow.

Dazzle Patch Breaks Record.

Hamline, Minn., September 6.—Dazzle Patch, a son of Dan Patch, lowered his own world's record for a 2-year-old, half mile pace here today, going the distance in :58½, one second better than the time he made last week. Dazzle Patch was paced by a runner.

Jerome Travers Meets Chick Evans Saturday For Amateur Golf Title

Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill., September 6.—Charles Evans, Jr., of the Edgewater club, Chicago, western amateur champion, holder of many course records and joint holder with Harold Hilton of the low medal score in the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship tournament, tomorrow will play Jerome Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., metropolitan champion, twice national champion and a match player admitted to be one of the strongest in this country. Travers and Evans both are scratch men in the national handicap list.

Travers has played his way through the tournament by defeating Sherrill Sherman, Walter J. Travis, Mason Phelps and Hamilton Kerr.

Kerr's showing has been one of the surprises of the national championship. The young Vermont player was extended to his utmost yesterday, however, to beat Paul Hunter, of Midlothian, in 37 holes and was easy for Travers.

"Chick" Evans was forced today to defeat Warren K. Wood, of Homewood, who carried the match to the thirty-third hole. Wood was runner-up to Evans at Denver in the western championship. Evans went through the field, defeating in turn A. W. Tillinghast, H. B. Lee, Heinrich Schmidt and Warren K. Wood.

Norman Hunter, of Edinburgh, who yesterday collapsed because of the heat and was forced to withdraw from his match with Wood, remained in bed all day today under the care of his physician, but was pronounced not in danger.

Travers had a 36 for his first nine of the afternoon. His iron play was as accurate and his drives were seldom off the line, though he dubbed two tee shots completely. Travers got a three on the nineteenth hole, par five. On the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth holes he had 50 and 80 yards respectively the better of the drives. His tee shot from the twenty-eighth he dubbed into a bunker 25 yards from the tee. The ball untopped over and he laid his second by the pin and holed the third.

"Chick" Evans and Wood both were wild in the afternoon, but Evans' long drives and iron play saved him. Evans was in the rough on the 24th, 26th, 30th and 33d. He had Wood only one down in the morning. He got four more in the third nine, however, and was never in danger, though he left the 18th green at noon, saying that he was sick and "all in."

Part of the afternoon was played in a thundershower.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Lookouts 3, Turtles 0.

Chattanooga, Tenn., September 6.—Sensational shortstop playing of Balenti featured a 3-0 victory by Chattanooga over Memphis today. The short fielder made a great one-hand catch of a fly, a one-hand stab of a line drive over second, and four thrilling stops of apparently sure hits, two for double plays. He also helped in all the local run-getting with timely hits. The locals bunched four hits for two runs off Kissinger. Newton pitched great ball, but More was steady, and the Memphis players were unable to make a run.

Birmingham, Ala., September 6.—Birmingham scored six runs off Adams in the second inning and had little trouble in downing Montgomery, 6 to 1. Manning succeeded Adams in the second and pitched air-tight ball for the other six innings. Boyd was hit safely eight times, but tightened up in the pinches and held Montgomery to one run.

Brilliant catches by Johnston was the only feature of the slow battle.

Earlier Game And Vols' Last At Poncey Park

The Volunteers and the Crackers will tie up in their last game of the season at Ponce de Leon park today.

The Vols hit the rails for Memphis immediately after the game is over, and Atlanta fans will not have the chance of seeing them in action again until next season.

The game this afternoon will be called at the unusual hour of 2:15 o'clock. This is made necessary because the Vols must play according to schedule in Memphis on Sunday.

It is to be hoped that when the schedule is framed for next season the earlier games here will be eliminated.

AMATEUR GAMES

TODAY'S GAMES.

Commercial League.
J. M. High v. Smyrna, at Smyrna.

City League.
Bean & Magill v. Moore, at Boulevard and Tenth.
Southern Shops v. Inman Yards, at Hill's Park.
Southern Bell v. Southern Club, at Brisbine.

Saturday Afternoon League.
Atlanta Top Company v. Independents, at Exposition.
Continental Gin Company v. Piedmont, at Piedmont.
Center Hill v. Whittier, at plant.
Exposition v. Fulton Bag, at Fulton.

Baraca League.
Games are also scheduled for the Baraca League, but the exact opponents could not be secured.

Play for Pennant.
The High-Smyrna game, which will be played at Smyrna, will unless perhaps a tie game occurs, decide the pennant. These two teams are tied for the race in the Commercial League and a great contest is anticipated. The Commercial League fans are disappointed that the game will not be played in Atlanta, but the game will undoubtedly draw a great crowd at Smyrna. To pick a winner would be only a guess, as there is little to choose between the two teams.

Agogas v. McDonald.
The Agoga and McDonald teams meet this afternoon at Piedmont Park to decide the race in the Baraca League. The Agogas are only one-half game behind McDonald and should they win would lead by half a game. The teams are very evenly matched and a hot battle is expected. The batteries for the day will be: Simmons and Freeman, for the Agogas; Cape and Morgan, for McDonald. The game will be played on Piedmont diamond No. 1.

Wesley v. Capitol View.
Wesley Memorial, pennant winners in the Trolley League, and Capitol View, pennant winners in the Sunday School eLague, will meet at Piedmont Park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

DROPS GEORGIAN FROM ARMY ROLLS

Taft Approves Court-Martial Sentence of Captain Boss Reese.

Washington, September 6.—Two officers were dropped from the army rolls today through the approval by President Taft of sentences of courts-martial.

One was Captain Boss Reese, of Georgia, Philippine Scouts, convicted in the Philippines of brutal treatment of his enlisted men, neglect of duty and other offenses. In addition to the dismissal, the court-martial sentenced him to fifteen years hard labor, but this part of the sentence failed to receive the president's approval.

Captain Jacques de la Fitte, Twelfth infantry, was dismissed on account of irregular financial transactions.

ALMA LEAVES ATLANTA TO LIVE IN MONTGOMERY

Her mother serving thirty days in the city workhouse on the charge of conducting a disorderly house, and her father sentenced Monday to twelve months in the penitentiary for vagrancy, pretty 16-year-old Alma Barrett last night was sent by police authorities to Montgomery, where she goes to live with her sister.

After bidding her protectors around police headquarters a tearful goodby she thanked them all for the interest they had taken in her.

Alma told the police that she intends to reform. She said her mother had forced her to don long dresses when she was 15, and she was allowed to roam the streets at will during all hours of the night. Her mother, she said, paid no attention to her conduct, but encouraged her by setting an ill example.

Mrs. Barrett was arrested by detectives at her residence on South Pryor street. She was charged with operating a disorderly house. Alma was living with her at the time, although she had been engaged by a second-class musical comedy company as a chorus girl on the barnstorming road tour of several months.

OFFICER M. B. WILEY DIES FROM PARALYSIS

Madison B. Wiley, 55 years old, of 354 Beckwith street, a member of the Atlanta police force, died from a stroke of paralysis at Grady hospital Friday midnight.

Policeman Wiley suffered the paralytic stroke last Monday morning about 8 o'clock, at the corner of Decatur street and Central avenue, as he was returning to his home from duty. He was taken directly to Grady hospital, and had been there ever since. Every medical aid was given him, but without avail. He had been a member of the police force for the last four years, and had been a brave and efficient officer.

He is survived by a wife and four children. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

In three different places in this paper there is advertised a six-room bungalow, in best section, within few minutes' walk from car line, on a lot 60x410. This bungalow has electricity, water and a stone foundation; also chicken ranch in yard. We asked the owner to list with us exclusively, but he replied, "I don't want to hurt the other boys' feelings, and, besides I have about closed a trade. I am going to handle this on a basis of first come, first served." This is indeed a big bargain. In nice locality; best of neighbors. See us at once and beat the other fellow to this bargain.

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

The Charles P. Glover Realty company has sold for William Hurd Hillyer to the Georgia Realty Trust company Nos. 12, 14 and 16 West Trinity avenue for a consideration of $60,000, or at a rate of a little more than $906 per front foot.

This is one of the most important sales that has been made in this section of the center of the city this summer. The property lies on the north side of the street in the middle of the block between Whitehall and Forsyth streets, and is almost directly opposite the old Trinity church property, which, it is said, is soon to be improved. The property has a frontage of 64 feet on Trinity avenue, with a depth of 105 feet. The lot is occupied by a three-story mill-constructed building, formerly occupied by the Smith publishing company, but now vacant.

New Peachtree Apartment.

It is reported that a new 10-story apartment house will be built in the near future at the northeast corner of Peachtree and Third streets—the old George Winship property—at a cost of $700,000. This is within one block of the Georgian Terrace and the new apartments of the Fulton Properties company. W. L. Stoddard, of New York, who designed the Georgian Terrace, is said to be drawing the plans for the new apartment. The reported dimensions of the building are 200 feet on Peachtree with a depth of 400 feet, which will make it one of the largest and most imposing of buildings of its character in the south.

This property has a frontage of 26 feet on Spring street and a depth of 80 feet on Poplar.

Mr. Clark took as a part payment Nos. 254-6 Cascade avenue, two two-story houses on lots 55x200 each, which went in at a valuation of $12,000.

Roff Sims has sold for Edgar Dunlap to Miss Laura Armstrong No. 166 Decatur street, for an aggregate consideration of $16,500.

This property is on the north side of the street 190 feet east of Piedmont avenue. It consists of a three-story brick building, now leased for $100 a month, on a lot 20x100 to an alley.

Edwin L. Winn has sold for himself and G. A. and W. H. Martin to the city of Atlanta the northwest corner of Spring and Eighteenth streets, a large lot upon which the city will build its eighth ward school. The consideration was $10,000 cash.

This lot has a frontage of 250 feet on Spring street and a depth of 300 feet on Eighteenth. It is two blocks from where Spring street, if opened up, would go into Peachtree, and two blocks of the north junction of Peachtree and West Peachtree streets.

Judge Pendleton, of the superior court, has appointed Forrest Adair sole commissioner to sell at auction certain parcels of the Mitchell property on Whitehall street and Trinity avenue.

The auction will take place at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of October 1. There will be three parcels.

POLICE ASKED TO HUNT FOR MISSING HUSBAND

Chief of Police Beavers yesterday received a pathetic letter from Mrs. R. O. Eagle, of Richmond, Va., soliciting the assistance of the Atlanta police in a search for her husband, whom she believes has met with foul play while traveling through Georgia.

Eagle is a traveling piano tuner, who has made Georgia his territory for the past ten years or more. He is known in almost every small town and countryside in the state, and makes regular trips to these places two or three times each year. He is a man of pleasing appearance, and is about 40 years old.

In the letter to Chief Beavers, Mrs. Eagle states that she has not heard from her husband within the past month. The last she heard from him was in August, when he forwarded money from Dothan, Ala., and notified Mrs. Eagle that he was bound for Atlanta.

Mrs. Eagle resides at 801 North Twenty-third street, Richmond.

COTTON GAINED 14 TO 19 POINTS

Fears of Deterioration of Crop Factor in the Advance. Spot Steady.

New York, September 6.—Apprehensions that the eastern belt crop was deteriorating rapidly, caused a very active buying movement in the cotton market today, and while part of the advance was lost in the late trading, the close was steady at a net gain of from 14 to 19 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points, in response to disappointing cables and reports that Liverpool had been prevented from fully meeting the local gains of yesterday by free offerings of actual. Trading was comparatively quiet at the start and early fluctuations were somewhat irregular, but numerous reports of crop damage from the eastern belt soon inspired a more general demand, and the market during the middle of the day became very active and excited. Reports of barometric disturbances in the gulf probably added to the nervousness to scattering short interest while there was a good deal of buying attributed to long account on predictions that any serious crop scare might bring in better demand from spinners. At any rate, prices sold up very rapidly, and before the advance was checked December contracts had touched 11.70 or over $4 per bale above the recent low point, while the general list showed a net gain of from 29 to 32 points. Realizing became very heavy at this level and the market subsequently eased some 14 or 15 points from the best, while trading became much less active during the last hour. Leading spot houses were credited with selling on the advance during the middle of the day.

Receipts, 26,150 bales, against 18,356 last week and 26,942 last year. Today's receipts at Galveston, 20,426, against 16,627 last year; at New Orleans, 451, against 810 last year, and at Houston, 17,229, against 16,012 last year.

Cotton spot closed steady; middling uplands, 11.75; middling gulf 12.00; sales, 231 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 6.—Spot cotton steady, ¼ up to ¼ off; middling, 11 5-16; sales on the spot, 90 bales; to arrive, 50; low ordinary, 7¾; nominal; ordinary, 8 9-16, nominal; good ordinary, 10; strict good ordinary, 10⅜; low middling, 10 11-16; strict low middling, 11 1-16; middling, 11 5-16; strict middling, 11 7-16; good middling, 11 5-16; strict good middling, 11 13-16; middling fair, 12¼, nominal; middling fair to fair, 12½, nominal; fair, 12⅞, nominal; receipts, 451; stock, 23,876.

Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 6 to 7 points on poor cables and good weather in the eastern portion of the cotton belt. First prices were the lowest in the early trading, as buying set in after the call based on private messages from Manchester telling of a good business there in bath cloths and yarns and on the rumor that Galveston labor disturbances had been settled. The market quickly recovered and at the end of the first half hour of the business stood 3 to 4 points over yesterday's close.

The market held a very steady tone throughout the morning session. Large interests were said to be heavy buyers, especially after the forecast predicting fair weather for the western half of the belt was posted. Private messages from Manchester told of a good business in both cloths and yarns, but bears pointed to spot sales in Liverpool of only 5,000 bales. Fear of crop deterioration appeared to be the real underlying reason for the rise. At noon the trading months were 24 points over yesterday's last quotations.

In the afternoon, the market was dull and prices were inclined to sag.

At 2 o'clock the trading months were 13 to 16 points over yesterday's close.

The market closed steady at a net advance of 18-19 points.

LIGHT BUSINESS IN STOCK MARKET

Most of the Transactions in the First Hour—Dull Rest of Session.

New York, September 6.—The movements of stocks today ran largely to specialties, with virtually no change in most other securities of speculative importance. There was at times, however, some pressure upon Lehigh Valley and Canadian Pacific, while other high-grade railway shares failed to move beyond fractional limits, and United States Steel and the coppers were little more than steady.

Some diversion was again furnished by the tobacco group, because of their extensive gains on relatively large dealings, but the gyrations of these issues, in which public interest has seldom been more negligible, failed to excite more than passing attention. The fertilizer stocks, notably American Cotton Oil, made smart advances, largely as a result of cotton crop prospects, while Bethlehem Steel and Republic Iron were strong to the accompaniment of another upward revision in the schedule of finished iron and steel.

The backwardness of the coppers doubtless had some connection with the drop in the metal abroad, together with reports that the statement of the Producers' association for August may show large increase of supplies. Among the less conspicuous specialties National Biscuit, Central Leather, common and preferred, and American Linseed preferred rose from 1 to 2 points.

Over 50 per cent of the day's light business was transacted in the first hour, the balance of the session, especially the last two hours being characterized by absolute inertia and another advance in call money to 4 per cent, the high price of the previous two days. The tone of the market at the close was heavy.

Forecasts point to a cash loss by the banks of only $2,300,000, as against yesterday's estimate of almost double that amount. Cables from London and Paris intimating the probability of gold exports to this country were scouted in authoritative quarters.

New York city 4½ bonds again sold under par, with a lower tendency in other issues. Total sales, par value, $2,005,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, September 6.—Following very unfavorable crop reports from all sections of the belt, the market today met with large buying for both long and short accounts, which advanced prices about 32 points. The character of advices from the south is such as to lead to the expectation of severe deterioration in the plant during the month and consequently the market is discounting it to the fullest. While there has been considerable selling by spot houses there was evidence today of spinners buying more freely than recently.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

NEW LOW RECORD MADE IN WHEAT

December Delivery Sold at 90 3-8—Corn Closed Lower.

Chicago, September 6.—Wheat prices today made a new low record for the season, 90⅜, December delivery. The market suffered from the pressure of big receipts northwest. Latest sales showed a decline of ½ to ⅝@⅝c net. Corn closed ⅜c down to ⅜c advance and oats from last night's level to ⅛@¼c below. Provisions closed 2½c down to 5c up.

Wheat longs here kept up a steady fire of liquidation sales, as a result of word that 3,000,000 bushels of new wheat had been hedged in today in Minneapolis alone and that 1,500 loaded cars were scheduled to arrive at Duluth Monday. Seaboard sales of 75 boatloads of wheat and the engaging of vessel room for sixty more loads failed to bring about more than feeble rallies. December fluctuated between 90⅜ and 91¼, closing steady but ½@⅝c off at 90⅜@90⅜.

Numerous reports of corn firing in dry hot sections southwest influenced some heavy buying of corn. There was also active cash demand from the east. Many speculators, however, sold on account of generally good crop prospects. The upshot was an irregular market, with nearby deliveries finishing steady and later options weak. December ranged from 54 to 54⅜, with the close unchanged at 54⅛. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 79@79¼.

Oats held comparatively steady in consequence of fair export sales. Outside limits touched by December were 32 and 32¼@32⅜, with final sales the same as last night at 32⅛.

In provisions the averages of prices was maintained owing to a light run of hogs here and west. The greatest net advance did not exceed 5c either way.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED.

What Commercial Agencies Say About Business.

New York, September 6.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that every prospect pleases and trade continues its onward march. Cumulative strength appeared to be the order of the day. The quickening impulses of better things are extending to sections that heretofore have been relatively backward and, what is most significant, garnered crops contribute even higher yields than anticipated a fortnight ago with those yet to be gathered—corn and cotton—giving evidence of astonishingly good progress. The crop situation is such as to generate optimism, the influence of which trade are clearly apparent all over the west. Jobbers of dry goods have enjoyed a good house trade despite the holidays, visiting buyers still being in evidence and road sales are larger, while business for spring is opening in a good way with first hands. While it is evident that early buying of dry goods by secondary factors was not of sufficient proportions to cover requirements, jobbers seem content to go to first hands only when demands warrant.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending September 5 were 191, against 228 last week, 194 in the like week of 1911, 173 in 1910, 191 in 1909 and 9 in 1908. Business failures in Canada for the week terminating with Thursday number 20, against 35 last week and 22 in the like week of last year.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending September 5 aggregate 4,48,668 bushels, against 3,545,134 bushels last week and 2,632,243 bushels this week last year. For the ten weeks ending September 5 exports are 30,904,460 bushels, against 35,857,177 bushels in the corresponding period last year. Corn exports for the week are 45,202 bushels, against 59,656 bushels last week and 211,259 bushels in 1911. For the ten weeks ending September 5 corn exports are 807,404 bushels, against 4,686,762 bushels last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 6.—In the absence of general rains the sellers the past few days became uneasy and as the market recovered the opening decline and slowly advanced, they became buyers, carrying prices some 30 points higher before a reaction of 10 or 12 points occurred. This advance, in no way, changed the opinion of the large spot houses—that the weight of the receipts will carry the market lower. There is, however, a slow change of opinion in process, due to the reports of deterioration in the crop from hot winds and worms in nearly every section of the cotton belt, except the Memphis district, where the crop continues to do well. Even from northern Texas the estimates are being reduced. The wonderful expansion of business throughout the world has raised the ocean freight rates everywhere and made steamers scarce, so that the early receipts have pressed upon the Texas market. Spinners have been so strongly advised to wait before buying that this deterioration of the crop and the consequent advance has taken the entire spinning world by surprise. Tonight the traders think that the urgent short interest has been covered, and they expect a lower market, but that again depends on the weather.

Liverpool is expected to open about 3 points higher in the morning.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, September 6.—After opening 4 to 6 points lower the cotton market jumped up some 30 points today under the impetus of heavy buying by leading speculative interests and heavy covering of shorts. Fears of a storm, accompanied with high winds, forming in the east gulf was the reason. The entire trade now fear that the crop in the eastern belt is rapidly deteriorating, owing to the heat and absence of rain. It is believed that the heat will cause premature opening and while it will hasten the maturity of the crop it will be at the expense of the final yield. Towards the close the market was very erratic. Realizing, however, set in and final prices were only 14 to 18 points higher.

Liverpool is due 2 to 3 points higher.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, September 6.—Prices have been irregular, but latterly have shown considerable firmness owing to hot dry weather in the Atlantic and eastern gulf sections, as well as in Texas. These reports have been accompanied by many complaints of rust and shedding, especially in Georgia, though also to some extent in South Carolina. Deterioration has also been reported in Texas. At the same time, the crop as a whole is said to be two to three weeks and even in some cases four weeks late. In such circumstances the kind of weather that is experienced in September is considered especially important. In fact, it is contended that the weather this month must be practically perfect or else the crop is likely to be seriously injured.

The next thing on the carpet will be frost date. It was noticed on Thursday that heavy frost occurred in the far west and northwest and some veteran traders were apprehensive lest frost, or, at any rate, very low temperatures might push down into the southwestern cotton fields. Recently Texas has had temperatures of 100 to 103 degrees, though on Thursday the weather in that state had begun to cool down noticeably. The weekly weather report stated that the recent temperatures in the belt generally had been anywhere from 2 to 8 degrees above normal while the rainfall had been noticeably below normal.

At the same time, Manchester has reported a better demand for both cloths and yarns. The state of cotton goods business on this side of the water is also generally favorable. Stocks of American cotton goods in China are said to be relatively small. Many here contend that the crop has been overestimated and the consumption underestimated. It turns out that the last crop was 16,501,000 bales, of which 16,138,000 bales came to market.

Hester's figures on the consumption were a surprise and have given no slight encouragement to the believers in better prices showing, as they did, that it was 14,515,000 bales, the largest on record. The bearish argument is that this crop is going to be far beyond the requirements of the trade if allowances are made for a large surplus carried over from last season, and the fact that many European spinners have good stocks of raw material and in some cases bought last season at least a portion of their requirement for some years ahead.

Also the Egyptian and East Indian crops this year are expected to be large, so that Europe may not take nearly so much American cotton this season as it did during the season just ended.

The big receipts at Texas points are regarded by bears as a plain hint that Texas has raised a big crop. Late in the week cooler weather in the Atlantic states, selling by Waldorf interests and a good deal of selling also by large spot people gave prices something of a setback. It is more of a sided affair, however, than it was recently. But on Friday reports of steady deterioration not only in Atlantic states, but in some parts of Texas, owing to hot dry weather, caused another advance.

A. A. C. GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP BUT A SCANT WEEK AWAY

The golf championship of the Atlanta Athletic club is but a week away. One week from today the qualifying round will be played over the East Lake course of the club.

Hamilton G. Scott is the present club champion, and will be on hand to defend his title. Players will qualify from scratch and match play in the first flight will also be from scratch, the club handicaps applying in the other flights.

Lookouts Will Be the Closing Card of Season

The Chattanooga Lookouts, who opened the 1912 baseball season in Atlanta, will have the honor of closing it.

Billy Smith, who will pilot the Crackers in 1912, will lead the Lookouts against his new teammates in this series, the last time that William will lead a hostile crew against Atlanta for two seasons.

Much interest is attached to this series, and Bill is sure to get a rousing reception from the fans, as it will be the first time that Billy has come to Atlanta since the announcement of his having been signed to pilot the Crackers in 1913-14.

WORLD'S SERIES STARTS OCT. 8

St. Louis, September 6.—The series for the world's baseball championship will begin October 8, according to President B. B. Johnson, of the American league, in a letter to a local paper. The American league pennant winner will not engage in a post-season series with a picked team of the league, says President Johnson.

The letter follows:

"A series of exhibition games for the champions of the American league at the close of this season would be impossible. In the east the championship race closes October 5, and in the west on the following day. The series for the world's championship will begin Tuesday, October 8. The only preparation the American league champions will make for this event will be to take a good, substantial rest for two or three days."

PRES. CALLAWAY RETURNS TODAY

Major Frank E. Callaway, president of the Atlanta Baseball association, will return to Atlanta today from his extended vacation, which he richly deserved.

And there is one man who will be mighty glad to see him back. That man is Vice President Nunnally, upon whose shoulders the burden of running a tail-end ball club devolved when the president gave up the ship, figuratively speaking.

Upon Mr. Callaway's return and the end of the local baseball season, things can be expected to break mighty quickly, and when Billy comes to Atlanta to take charge of affairs, there is sure to be plenty of action from then out.

THESE SCORERS WILL HAVE CINCH

New York, September 6.—Something new in equipment for a baseball stand may be seen this month at Washington park, the home of the Brooklyn Nationals. In all the stands President Ebbetts has installed a series of megaphone horns, electrically connected with a central instrument in the press box. Through the central instrument an employee repeats all the umpire's decisions and announces the names of players as they come to the bat. This is given out simultaneously from the horns in all sections of the amphiteater.

PITCHER BECK JOINS THE VOLS

Pitcher Beck, late of the Hendersonville Kitty league team, joined the Volunteers here Thursday.

Beck was the hurler that Schwartz had down on the first-base foul line warming up when the Crackers looked like they were going to get to Teddy Bair.

VANDERBILT CUP RACE TO BE FAST

Milwaukee, Wis., September 6.—Arrangements for the Vanderbilt cup program, to be run here September 17, 20 and 21, have been made on an elaborate scale. The program begins Tuesday, September 17, with the $10,000 American grand prize over a distance of 410 miles and winds up Saturday, with the Vanderbilt cup race at 300 miles.

Sixty of the most widely known foreign and American drivers will risk their lives for fame and a share of the $20,250 in cash offered by the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association, in addition to about an equal sum in gold trophies and automobile accessories.

Promoters of the meet declare the course is the fastest of its kind in the country. There are four long straightaway stretches on the course and only four turns. Each of these has a broad sweep. The Sommerville turn is particularly fast. It has been widened to 80 feet and in practice cars have been driven around it at a speed of 70 miles per hour.

Plans have been made to accommodate more than 50,000 spectators. The list of entries includes Georges Boillot, winner of the French Grand Prize, who will drive a Pougeot car. Ralph de Palma, Erwin Bergdell and Ralph Mulford, who furnished a spectacular three-cornered contest at the recent Elgin meet, are entered. Pitted against them will be David Bruce-Brown, twice winner of the American Grand Prix, Teddy Tetzlaff, Hughie Hughes, Spencer Wishart, Caleb Bragg and half a hundred other drivers. Among the foreign cars will be three Pougeots, three Fiats, three Benz, two Mercedes, a Renault, Isotta and Metallargique.

The Grand Prix on Tuesday will begin at 10 o'clock. The prizes are the gold trophy donated by the Automobile Club of America, and $5,000 to the winner; second, $2,500; third, $1,250; fourth, $750; fifth, $500.

The Vanderbilt cup prizes are: First, the trophy and $3,000; second, $2,000; third, $1,000; fourth, $500.

RUSSELL SAGE

Always advised the purchase of a seemingly neglected security. This applies doubly to REAL ESTATE.

Any land in our half-mile circle adjoining RAILROAD at $140 per foot is $210 per foot under value, especially when freight terminals, labor supply and neighbors like Atlanta Paper Co., Atlanta Milling Co., Swift Specific, Dittler Stationery Co. and Atlanta Machine Works are in stone's throw.

We strongly commend to investor, manufacturer or speculator, 135x195 on EAST HUNTER, extending to Georgia Road land, with a 17-foot alley on side.

Commercially, it can be put on a 10 per cent basis by improving one-third only, making large profit out of balance. Its speculative outlook is second to none.
